Kuhner Warns Of Opposition

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The $4.5 million bond issue for a City-County building was headed Friday for some official opposition unless the voters are given the opportunity to select the site.

Lancaster County Commissioner Chris Kuhner said Friday "for the record" that he is against a June 26 referendum on the proposed issue "unless at least three possible building sites are included on the ballot."

The City-County Building Authority announced earlier in the day its resolution calling for a June 26 special election on a $4.5 million revenue bond issue for the proposed building.

The Board of Commissioners are expected to be asked Tuesday to authorize the special election on the bond issue as proposed by the Authority.

Kuhner said he understood the Authority is favoring a 15th street site.

"What's being done (by the Authority) will defeat the whole bond issue in June—if it even comes up," Kuhner said.

Kuhner favored placing three sites on the ballot: the 15th street site favored by the Authority; the present county Courthouse site on 10th, and any third site that might be proposed.

However, Commissioners Russell Brehm and Del Lienemann did not share their colleague's views.

Brehm said "We've appointed the Authority and agreed (with the city) to go along with its decisions. The Authority was given the power to select the site."

Lienemann appeared to support Brehm in this view.

"The site is in the hands of the Authority. It was given the power to select the site and it's their problem," Lienemann said.

Kuhner Will Dissent
But, Kuhner said he would dissent in any county board approval of a June 26 election unless both the bond issue and the site question are included on the ballot.

Kuhner noted the early estimates of a $3.5 million for a City-County Building as against the Authority's indicated $4.5 million figure.

"The Authority evidently plans to spend around a million for the site alone," he said. "The building could be built on the present Courthouse site for nothing and a second city block be acquired to the south for less than $150,000."

Order Asked Holding Funds Of Authority

The Lancaster District Court has been asked to issue a temporary order restraining the spending of funds appropriated to the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority by the city and county.

Judge Harry Spencer will hear Saturday, 11 a.m., the motion for the temporary restraining order filed Friday by Atty. Leo Bartunek in connection with a declaratory judgment suit attacking the validity and constitutionality of the Building Authority.

Plaintiff for the suit, filed May 11, is Edward A. Wagner of 2837 Summer. The second plaintiff, George Schleiger Jr., of 205 So. 45th, has withdrawn his name from the action.

'Legally Non-Existent'

The court is asked to restrain the Authority, described as "a legally non-existent corporate entity" by the motion, from disbursing or obligating any of the $9,000 appropriated for its use.

The city and county had each appropriated $4,500 for the Authority in connection with expenses for preliminary building plans and surveys.

Cost Up To $4.5 Million

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The amount of the bond issue for the proposed new joint city-county building was set at $4.5 million Friday.

This is an increase of $1 million in first estimates of the cost. Building Authority Chairman C. C. Kimball has attributed the increase to higher costs since the original estimate was made a year ago.

Also, in connection with the $4.5 million it has been pointed out that the city found it was short on its auditorium funds on three occasions and was forced to go back to the people for more money. The Authority hopes to avoid this.

In a resolution approved by the Authority calling for an election June 26 to vote on the proposed issue, the interest rates on the bonds is fixed at a maximum of 3.5 per cent. Under the resolution, the bonds could be amortized over a 40-year period.

The resolution authorizes the Authority to acquire a site, construct and operate the building. Payment of the bonds will be through revenues obtained through leasing of the building to the city and county.

The election for the $4.5 million issue must be called by the county. Another election for that same date will be called by the city for voting on a proposed $4.8 million hospital bond issue and a $1,240,000 library bond issue.

Shriners of the Sesostri Temple initiated 139 candidates — the largest class in recent years — Friday evening as part of their spring ceremonial in Lincoln.

The ceremonial, during which hundreds of Shriners paraded in downtown Lincoln in the afternoon, was in honor of Dr. Clayton F. Andrews of Lincoln, imperial high priest of the Shrine of North America.

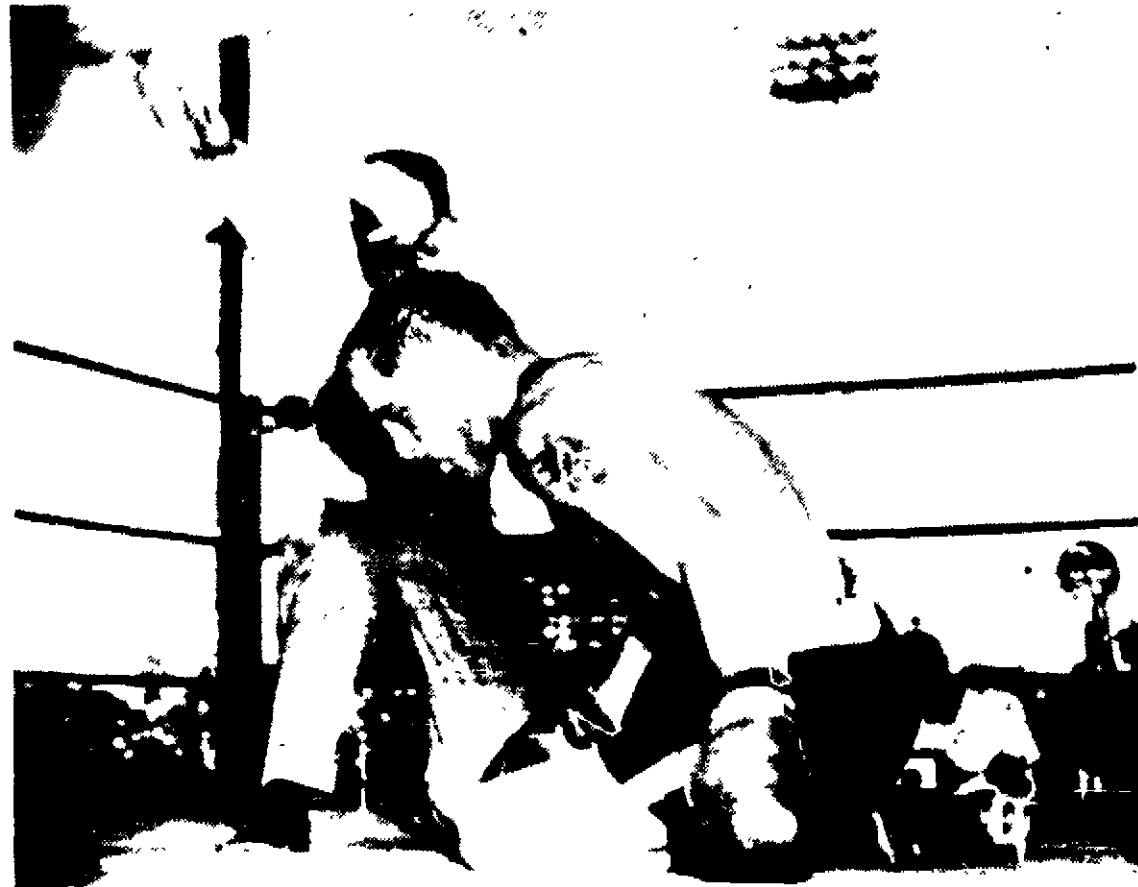

Dr. Andrews, a past potentate of the Lincoln temple, will become imperial potentate in 1959. Other imperial officers attending the ceremonial were George E. Stringfellow, imperial assistant rabban, and George M. Saunders, imperial recorder.

Floyd Randolph is potentate of the Sesostri Temple at Lincoln. Visiting potentates from other temples included Thomas F. Seay of Chicago; A. H. Kaiser of St. Louis; Varro Rhodes of Omaha, and James King of Hastings.

Parade features included uniformed units of the Sesostri Temple, the oriental band, a mount-

New Farm Bill, More To Ike's Liking, Is Passed

... BILLION DOLLAR SOIL-BANK PROGRAM APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a new farm bill Friday night to replace the one President Eisenhower vetoed April 16. It is stripped of many features objectionable to the administration and gives the president the billion dollar soil bank program he requested. Passage was on a voice vote.

The bill now goes to the House for consideration of numerous changes written in by the Senate during a session lasting more than nine hours. The House version was passed May 3.

Hope For Speedy Action

Sens. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Anderson (D-NM) expressed hope that the House would accept the changes and rush the legislation to the White House for Eisenhower's signature.

Aiken, senior GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has been serving as the administration's spokesman on farm policy in the Senate. Anderson is a former Democratic secretary of agriculture.

Members of both parties have said they want to get some relief legislation on the books as quickly as possible.

If the House refuses to accept the changes, another Senate-House conference committee will have to be appointed to iron out the differences. But Senate leaders exhibited confidence the house would go along with them.

No Advance Payments

The senate bill, like the House measure, provides for a soil bank plan under which farmers could receive up to $1,200,000 a year in government benefits for withdrawing land from the production of crops already in surplus.

But neither branch of Congress voted to give Eisenhower the authority he requested to make up to 500 million dollars in advance payments on the soil bank this year. Without this authority, he contended, farmers would not receive any substantial soil bank benefits until 1957, since this year's growing season is so far advanced.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee called the President's pre-payment proposal "a political lollipop" and led efforts to defeat it.

Rigid Supports Out

The bill does not contain the high, rigid price supports for basic crops, which was the major reason for Eisenhower's veto last month. A dual parity system for figuring price supports and other features objectionable to the administration also have been dropped.

Before the final vote, the Senate settled its quarrel over price supports for feed grains.

Aiken and Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) won adoption of a compromise amendment which they said would put livestock feed grains on a fair basis in relation to corn grown in the big commercial Corn Belt. The vote on this issue was 73-14.

The compromise would provide generally lower price supports for feed grains than voted by the House and recommended by the Senate Agriculture Committee. It appeared to have removed the administration's principal objection to the new farm legislation.

Another section, on which both House and Senate are in agreement, would authorize 500 million dollars in payments to support perishable commodities and 200 million to help dispose of surplus products in a variety of programs. The struggle over the feed grains was a lone one.

One part of the compromise would make oats, rye, barley, grain sorghums and corn grown outside the commercial area ineligible for benefits under the new soil bank plan.

... Army Half-Tracks Halted

WASHINGTON (INS) — Democrats in the Senate and House lashed out bitterly Friday at the action of the U. S. government in blocking a shipment of 21 surplus Army half-tracks destined for Israel.

The incident, revealed in a copyrighted story by International News Service and confirmed by the State Department, brought sharp attacks from Sens. Paul H. Douglas, Ill., and Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, N. Y.

Douglas and Humphrey charged that the action indicates Eisenhower administration favoritism toward the Arab powers at the expense of Israel.

Celler charged that it was "part of a studied purpose of the State Department to hamstring and hurt Israel." He denounced the denial of a license for the shipment as "inept and unrealistic," adding: "I'm almost tempted to say stupid."

State Department spokesman Lincoln White disputed the assertion that the shipment was blocked by the department as "technical" or "inept." He said the action was ordered by customs authorities, but added:

"They (customs) did not ask us whether to block it or not. If they had we would have said yes." The spokesman said that the de-

Republican nomination for President (1,013 of 2,519 precincts): Eisenhower (unopposed) 77,099.

Republican nomination for U. S. Senate (1,013 of 2,519 precincts): Phil Hitchcock 24,100, Douglas McKay 29,133.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson battled ahead of Sen. Estes Kefauver — but never too far ahead — in write-in returns from Oregon's Democratic presidential primary.

An impressive popularity vote for President Eisenhower, unopposed on the Republican ticket, and a somewhat surprising write-in for Vice President Nixon's renomination showed up as the slow count of the complicated ballot began.

Stevenson, ahead at the outset, slipped slightly behind his Tennessee rival for the Democratic presidential bid, then pulled up again in their expectedly close race.

Nixon's name was on the ballot. It looked like this on the basis of unofficial returns from 821 of the state's 2,519 precincts: Stevenson, 13,263; Kefauver, 8,805.

Republicans seconded Eisenhower for re-election with a vote of 49,989 from 821 precincts.

Democrats now lead in the state's registration by a thin margin, but many marked their ballots without bothering to pencil in their preference for President.

About one of three of the Republican ballots carried a write-in of Vice President Nixon to team up with Eisenhower in the 1956 election. Some Republicans had urged this show of confidence for Nixon, but the vice president himself did not solicit it.

The write-in by Democrats for President and by Republicans for vice president would pledge the respective delegations to the national nominating conventions to the winners.

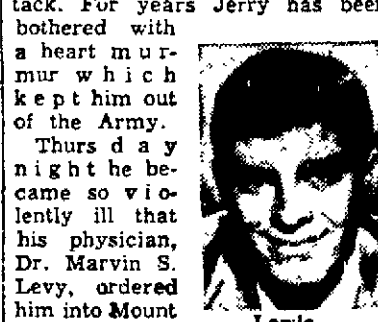

Oregon's former governor, Douglas McKay, who resigned as secretary of the interior to make the race with a sendoff from Eisenhower, climbed into a comfortable lead for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

He led hard-campaigning Phil Hitchcock, chief of three Republican opponents, by a vote of 24,100 to 18,256 in the report from 821 precincts.

An impressive popularity vote for President Eisenhower, unopposed on the Republican ticket, and a somewhat surprising write-in for Vice President Nixon's renomination showed up as the slow count of the complicated ballot began.

Stevenson, ahead at the outset, slipped slightly behind his Tennessee rival for the Democratic presidential bid, then pulled up again in their expected close race. Neither's name was on the ballot.

It looked like this on the basis of unofficial returns from 821 of the state's 2,519 precincts: Stevenson, 13,263; Kefauver, 8,805.

Republicans seconded Eisenhower for re-election with a vote of 40,989 from 821 precincts.

Democrats now lead in the state's registration by a thin margin, but many marked their ballots without bothering to pencil in their preference for President.

About one of three of the Republican ballots carried a write-in of Vice President Nixon to team up with Eisenhower in the 1956 election. Some Republicans had urged this show of confidence for Nixon, but the vice president himself did not solicit it.

The write-in by Democrats for President and by Republicans for vice president would pledge the respective delegations to the national nominating conventions to the winners.

Oregon's former governor, Douglas McKay, who resigned as secretary of the interior to make the race with a sendoff from Eisenhower, climbed into a comfortable lead for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

He led hard-campaigning Phil Hitchcock, chief of three Republican opponents, by a vote of 24,100 to 18,256 in the report from 821 precincts.

HEART ATTACK HOSPITALIZES JERRY LEWIS

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Jerry Lewis, of the famous team of Martin and Lewis, is in Mount Sinai Hospital suffering from a heart attack. For years Jerry has been bothered with a heart murmur which kept him out of the Army.

Thurs day a night he became so violently ill that his physician, Dr. Marvin S. Levy, ordered him into Mount Sinai for an electrocardiogram and other tests to determine just how serious is the damage.

Jerry and Dean Martin are right in the midst of "Hollywood or Bust," which has been very strenuous, and it won't be known for a few days whether he will be able to continue the Hal Wallis picture or postpone it.

Jerry covered himself with glory at the Jean Hershold testimonial dinner and was never funnier or better. Apparently, it was too much for him, however, because he had not been feeling well. Perhaps he overtaxed his strength. Of course, his devoted wife, Patti, is at his bedside.

2 Killed, 8 Hurt In Blast

Gas Storage Unit Blown To Bits

GALENA, Md. (AP)—Two firemen died and eight persons were seriously burned Friday by a fire and three explosions which reduced a gasoline storage tank plant to rubble and shook this Maryland eastern shore community to its foundations.

Two townspeople were slightly injured as a result of the blasts. The Kent Oil Co. plant, located in the center of this town of about 400 persons on U. S. 213, was destroyed. Three of its four storage tanks blew up and a fourth crumpled like a tin can. Four tank trucks, the company's frame of office building, a cinderblock building and all equipment were demolished.

In addition, state police said two nearby houses were wrecked and other homes and buildings throughout Galena were damaged by the force of the blasts. Some houses were jarred off their foundations. Others were twisted where they stood.

Many residents — remembering the disaster at nearby Chestertown nearly two years ago when a fireworks and explosives plant blew up killing 11 and injuring 30 — fled from their homes when they felt the first blast.

Tongay Accuses Officials

... Of Beating Him

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP)—Russell Tongay, burly swimming instructor serving 10 years for manslaughter in the high diving death of his daughter, says he has been "beaten and kicked" and confined in a dungeon on bread and water at the state prison.

Tongay made the charges in a letter to a friend, William Burrell Jr., Coral Gables high school swimming coach.

The Miami Daily News sent a reporter to Raiford to investigate Tongay's complaint. Warden DeWitt Sinclair refused permission for an interview. He called Tongay a "troublesome publicity seeker."

In Maximum Security
Sinclair said Tongay is "in maximum security" at Raiford. Tongay was convicted on a charge that he forced his 5-year-old daughter, Kathy, to make a high dive in which she was fatally injured. Kathy and her brother, Bubba, once were famous as a swimming team called the "Aquatots."

At the prison, the News reporter, Damon Runyon Jr., also heard a rumor that Tongay's arm had been broken by fellow prisoners. Joe Grotge, special assistant to Gov. Leroy Collins, said he was assured by Sinclair that this was not true.

Woman, 47, Offers
An Eye To Riesel

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (INS) — A 47-year-old wife of an Evansville union member Friday offered to give one of her eyes to labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Riesel was blinded by an acid attack in New York City six weeks ago in what he has said was the work of labor racketeers.

The housewife said she wished to give the eye, and did not want to sell it, adding:

"The only string attached is that you don't reveal my name."

TRUMANS GET IKE'S SUITE IN ROME HOTEL

ROME (AP)—Tourist Harry Truman came to Rome Friday and the management of his hotel put him and Mrs. Truman in the Eisenhower suite.

The suite—sitting room, bedroom and bath—was occupied several times by President Eisenhower while he was commander of Allied forces in Europe and the Hassler Hotel named it for him.

Truman's welcome to Rome was a rousing one. Thousands of citizens waved him along the sunny streets between the railway station and the hotel. When his train from Paris pulled in, other traveling Americans shouted, "Long Live Truman!" and "Truman for President!" and the ex-President smiled and waved from his compartment window.

Flying Wedge
Then police bore him off in a flying wedge to the reception room for distinguished guests, completely forgetting Mrs. Truman. When she reached the room, its door was locked and police had to pound repeatedly to get her admitted.

Soon after they reached the hotel above the famed Spanish steps, Truman held a news conference and said he still favors establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

"I've always favored it," he told reporter who asked, "I'm a good Baptist, but I think it would help the peace of the world to have that done."

Ives Favors Underworld Labor Probe

... Urged By Riesel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-NY) today endorsed a call by Victor Riesel, the crusading labor columnist blinded by acid, for a Congressional probe of "the underworld of the labor movement."

"I would be delighted to join with any senators who are desirous of making such a study," Ives told a reporter, adding:

"I would take the lead in this effort were I not a member of the minority. The decision to undertake such a study must be made by the Democratic majority controlling the Senate. I am hopeful that they will do so."

Riesel, who lost his eyesight after an unidentified person threw sulphuric acid into his eyes, told a news conference in New York there should be a "federal investigation of labor racketeering which invests unions."

The columnist said the inquiry should be conducted "by friends of labor, like Sens. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), Irving Ives (R-NY) or Styles Bridges (R-NH) or their counterparts in Congress."

Need $100 Million Annually To Raise Teachers' Pay—Adlai

TAMPA, Fla. (U.P.) — Adlai Stevenson called Friday night for a minimum 100 million-dollar-a-year program of combined federal and state aid to raise school teachers' salaries and improve teachers' education standards.

This was part of a three-point legislative program the Democratic presidential aspirant proposed as a means of breaking what he called the "hidden crisis" in education.

Stevenson said the "hidden crisis" was the mounting shortage of qualified teachers in the nation's schools. To provide an adequate number of teachers for the increasing number of school children he said would require that one half of all college graduates in the next 10 years choose the teaching profession.

National Scholarships

Other points in his legislative program call for a national scholarship program under which candidates would give some years to teaching after graduation, and a

Powell Aid Convicted Of Tax Evasion

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional secretary was convicted by a federal court jury Friday of income tax evasion.

Mrs. Hattie Freeman Dodson, 11-day trial was highlighted by testimony that she kicked back her secretary's salary to the Democratic Negro congressman from New York. Powell, however, took the witness stand to deny he ever received any salary kickback from her.

Mrs. Dodson wept in her husband's arms when the case went to the jury. But she was in full control of her emotions three and a half hours later when the 10 men and two women on the panel pronounced her guilty of all nine counts in the indictment.

45 Years

Mrs. Dodson faces a maximum 45 years in prison and $90,000 in fines when she is sentenced June 4.

The Negro woman is one of three present or former secretaries of Powell to face income tax evasion charges. The other two both men, have pleaded innocent and are awaiting trial.

Mrs. Dodson was accused of cheating the government out of $5,000 in income taxes from 1948 to 1952 and of collecting $2,000 in illegal tax refunds.

federal appropriation for research in education.

Stevenson first discussed his views on education in a talk to the student body at Florida Southern College in Lakeland earlier in the day, and elaborated on his program in discussions with news men in Tampa at the end of a long day of campaigning.

With Friday's intensive hand shaking and speechmaking tour Stevenson opened his final drive for votes in Florida's May 29 Democratic preference primary in which he clashes directly with Estes Kefauver.

At Least $50 Million

Stevenson proposed that Congress provide federal grants of at least 50 million dollars a year to the states on a matching basis for raising teacher salaries. These funds would be allocated under his program on the basis of the state's income and its efforts to improve education.

In speeches during the day at Lakeland, Stevenson charged that

Disturbing Peace Brings $35 Fine

Two University of Nebraska students pleaded guilty in Municipal Court after they were charged early Friday with disturbing the peace by calling a woman for dates and making suggestive remarks.

Fines of $35 and costs were levied against Allen H. Hanna, 19, and Elbert B. Smith, 18, both of 1433 R St.

The court was told the two had called a woman and arranged a meeting place at 2 a.m. Disturbed by the calls, the woman called the police after arranging to meet the callers on schedule.

The two showed up, the court was told, and were greeted by Patrolman John Murrell. Both students were jailed.

7th Set Of Twins

ROBERVAL, Que. (U.P.) — Their seventh set of twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Emile Tremblay at a hospital in Alma, in the Lake St. John district. The new meeting place at 2 a.m. Disturbed by the calls, the woman called the police after arranging to meet the callers on schedule.

The two showed up, the court was told, and were greeted by Patrolman John Murrell. Both students were jailed.

Need $100 Million Annually To Raise Teachers' Pay—Adlai

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson called Friday night for a minimum 100-million-dollar-a-year program of combined federal and state aid to raise school teachers' salaries and improve teachers' education standards.

This was part of a three-point legislative program the Democratic presidential aspirant proposed as a means of breaking what he called the "hidden crisis" in education.

Stevenson said the "hidden crisis" was the mounting shortage of qualified teachers in the nation's schools. To provide an adequate number of teachers for the increasing number of school children he said would require that one-half of all college graduates in the next 10 years choose the teaching profession.

National Scholarships

Other points in his legislative program call for a national scholarship program under which candidates would give some years to teaching after graduation, and a federal appropriation for research in education.

Stevenson first discussed his views on education in a talk to the student body at Florida Southern College in Lakeland earlier in the day, and elaborated on his program in discussions with newsmen in Tampa at the end of a long day of campaigning.

With Friday's intensive handshaking and speechmaking drive, Stevenson opened his final drive for votes in Florida's May 29 Democratic preference primary in which he clashes directly with Estes Kefauver.

At Least $50 Million

Stevenson proposed that Congress provide federal grants of at least 50 million dollars a year to the states on a matching basis for raising teacher salaries. These funds would be allocated under his program on the basis of the state's income and its efforts to improve education.

In speeches during the day at Lakeland, Stevenson charged that the budget-balancing program of the Eisenhower administration was "false economy" which would retard the national interest and eventually could increase rather than decrease governmental costs.

The former Illinois governor said the Mediterranean fruit fly threat on the lower east coast of Florida was a good example of the "shortsightedness of Republican policies."

Fruit Fly

Reappearance of the dreaded fruit fly was a direct result of economy efforts of the Republicans in cutting down on the inspection program at ports of entry, particularly Miami, Stevenson told the student body at Florida Southern College.

Now, he added, the federal government will spend more to try to control the pest than was saved by the cuts in the inspection program.

The presidential aspirant also charged that Republican economies were pinching the national defense effort and retarding education.

Stevenson entered upon a busy round of campaign activities with only two hours sleep after a long plane trip from Oregon, where he has been campaigning for Oregon's 16 Democratic National Convention votes.

Russian Might

In an Armed Forces Day speech before a Lakeland civic group, Stevenson said Russian advances in the military field were more rapid than the United States had foreseen.

"Our monopoly of the atomic bomb was short-lived," he said.

"Russia has exploded the hydrogen bomb and has evidently passed us in the development of long-range guided missiles. Moreover it appears now that the Soviet Union is rapidly overtaking us in aircraft, both in importance and numbers."

"So it is not hard to understand the growing concern about the first factor of security — our strength. Nor is it reassuring to read that it is no secret that the Air Force was held down in the interest of a balanced budget in a campaign year."

Powell Aid Convicted Of Tax Evasion

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's congressional secretary was convicted by a federal court jury Friday of income tax evasion.

Mrs. Hattie Freeman Dodson's 11-day trial was highlighted by testimony that she kicked back her secretarial salary to the Democratic Negro congressman from New York. Powell, however, took the witness stand to deny he ever received any salary kickback from her.

Mrs. Dodson wept in her husband's arms when the case went to the jury. But she was in full control of her emotions three and a half hours later when the 10 men and two women on the panel pronounced her guilty of all nine counts in the indictment.

45 Years

Mrs. Dodson faces a maximum 45 years in prison and $90,000 in fines when she is sentenced June 4.

The Negro woman is one of three present or former secretaries of Powell to face income tax evasion charges. The other two, both men, have pleaded innocent and are awaiting trial.

Mrs. Dodson was accused of cheating the government out of $5,000 in income taxes from 1948 to 1952 and of collecting $2,000 in illegal tax refunds.

Resources Improvement

Crusaders for the improvement of Nebraska's resources scored a significant victory this week. Their efforts in behalf of the Ainsworth irrigation district were rewarded by authorizing legislation by Congress and President Eisenhower signed it into law Friday.

The $26 million project is not one of Nebraska's biggest, but it is substantial. It will bring managed water to 35,000 heretofore unirrigated acres. There will be a dam in Cherry county on the Snake river and the canals emanating from the reservoir will service crop land in Brown and Rock counties.

It is expected that Congress will shortly make the initial appropriations which will begin the conversion of the project from paper plans into reality.

Step by step but with guarantees of permanence Nebraska is moving toward the goal of greater agricultural diversification and controlled production. It is one of the most significant programs of the current time destined greatly to increase the importance of Nebraska to the general economy and to mature the state on a plane of abiding prosperity and stability.

History will make more of this forward looking movement than will the present

Why Not Save Money?

It cost the people of Lancaster County a dollar a vote for every voter—man or woman—with adequate strength and determination to march to the polls last Tuesday.

Overhead the skies were blue. The breeze from out of the north added zest to life. Old Mother Nature would have been hard put to think up better conditions to bring out a huge vote.

We have always believed in a primary in preference to the convention method of nominating party candidates for office. We have said on many occasions that if mistakes were to be made, then it was to the interest of the people to make their own mistakes instead of turning that right over to the boys in smoke-filled rooms in the hotels. But if the people are to refuse to make mistakes by staying home, then they have robbed us of our last sound argument for a primary, particularly a primary looking towards preferential expression on presidential candidates.

If it's impossible to get the vote out, then why not abolish the primary? It costs a lot of money. We are not in a position at this time to say what the cost in the 93 counties of the state was but in Lancaster it ran around $17,000. In Douglas undoubtedly it was larger, and in some of the more populous counties outside, the costs ranged to sizeable figures.

Why not save the money? If people are not going to take any part in the primary, in the interest of economy reluctantly and regretfully we are ready to toss in the sponge in this long-drawn-out battle on behalf of the primary system. Frankly we are forced to confess it is a joke—a painful joke.

Strange World

It is an incredibly strange world of unrealities which talented, capable Washington columnist Doris Fleeson describes on this page.

She is discussing the poignant swan song of former U.S. Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington state who has been serving as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board. Cain, she says, is endeavoring to break through the political vacuum surrounding President Eisenhower, created in a large sense by Nebraska's Herbert Brownell and other Brownell associates, who have made it a part of their duty to spare the President anything that may smack of criticism. Ike, they reason, must neither hear anything nor read anything adverse to him.

Cain's term, expiring in August, means that he will be out because those around the President look upon him as anything but a team player. It is Cain's position, Miss Fleeson says, that the President does not get "unpleasant" news. Many

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

We hope that all the fine dreams of the people of northwestern Nebraska in connection with current development of old Ft. Robinson are realized. In early June the 22,000 acres which constitute the fort grounds will be thrown open to the public—that is, a portion of the ground set apart for park purposes and as a historic shrine. A staff has been preparing a museum and other workers have been making ready for this June opening. Before the arrival of fall and its chill and cold, there is the expectation that several thousand visitors to the state and even larger number of Nebraskans will have paid a visit to the historic old fort.

We recall rather vividly the impressions of our first visit to old Ft. Robinson as a cub reporter. There had been a severe late March blizzard which caught the herds of cattle of a famous old cattle country unprotected. And the losses were unusually heavy. We remember one herd which had drifted with the storm in an upper valley until many head had plunged into the waters, swift and deep, and drowned. It was that way all the way from a point some distance from Ft. Robinson until we reached central Wyoming. And the bodies of those cattle hauled from the water and left on the banks of the streams were a reminder of the days when first, Indian and cattle baron and later, cattle baron and settler fought for the land. We recall that on that same trip two railroad bridges were swept away by flood water shortly after our train had passed over them—flood waters converting normally peaceful clear Sandhill creeks into raging torrents.

In those days troops drawn from the regular army were stationed at Robinson. They gave color to the old fort, contributed testimony to the fact that in the years in the early settlements, Robinson was the most important military post between the Missouri River and old Ft. Laramie.

Then there was the day when the late A. E. Sheldon, for many years superintendent of the Nebraska State Historical Society, told us of the developments which led up to a clash between Indians and soldiers. Dr. Sheldon had a great genius for making history come alive. He was a master at description. For an hour that fall afternoon we saw the last great tragic clash on Nebraska soil between the white man and the Indian.

Rich as Ft. Robinson is in historic association, it offers the visitor another great attraction. There is much of natural beauty to be enjoyed. Four small clear streams provide drainage for its tree-covered hills and green valleys. There is a small lake—or perhaps the better word is "pond."

And there the pine grow and while the aspens are not as numerous as they were, we trust there are some survivors from the drought days of the 30's. There is the old parade ground where men were called to attention and in the silent surrounding hills lurk the reveries awakened by recollections of a new country—youth, with arms extended, seeming to say, "Come and take me for your own." We know there in time were buffalo, deer and antelope—that the tiny streams were home to the beaver—and that nature was good and generous.

This fight to preserve Ft. Robinson, ending successfully on 4th, could provide a great deal of satisfaction to Americans. We trust there will be a never-ending stream of visitors to the fort in the summer season of 1956 and in the years that follow the line of care will grow in number.

Oklahoma Solon Has Magic Touch

WASHINGTON — Cong. Victor Wickersham, the Oklahoma Democrat who complains that a congressman's salary is too low to live on, continues to amaze both his colleagues and Washington realtors by the way he's able to roll up profits. Not only does he seem to have an uncanny instinct for knowing in advance where the government is going to place new buildings, but he has a knack for acquiring real estate for next to nothing.

Take, for instance, his acquisition of 32.3 acres of land adjacent to the Everglades National Park in southern Florida. It didn't cost him a single solitary cent.

Here, according to the congressman's own explanation, is how he managed this real-estate juggling act. Wickersham heard that the late D. A. McDougal, once of Sapulpa, Okla., (home town of Mrs. Tom Dewey) had left 17,650 acres near the Everglades National Park when he died. So Wickersham made a deal with the widow and two McDougal daughters to take an option to purchase for $10 an acre, or a total of $176,500. This was a bargain, based on an acre which had been sold at $100 an acre.

The astute congressman, who humbly says he was "treating on a cotton, wheat and dairy farm" near Mangum, Okla., then secured up some other realtors to whom he sold 90 per cent of the land for 100 per cent of what it cost him. In return, he kept 5 per cent of 32.3 acres as his fee.

Those who came in on the deal were Gene Olm, Dr. W. T. Burch, and Tim McCue, all of Alexandria,

Va. Edgar F. Burch of Fort Lauderdale, and Allan Bruzee of Washington. In other words, they put up the money. Wickersham got a nice chunk of land free.

Note — Wickersham also acquired 376 acres on the Potomac River which the geological survey now covets, also bought eight acres near Colorado Springs, where the Air Force academy is being located, negotiated for land in Virginia near the future Central Intelligence Agency building, and owns two tracts of land in western Maryland between the proposed geological survey site and the new Atomic Energy Commission building.

COTTON GYRATIONS

The changeableness of Ezra Benson in wanting to sell his cotton surplus, then not selling it, then promising to sell it, then withdrawing it, has Congressman Jamie Whitten of Mississippi really sore.

"I seen wrought up and I am," he said frankly to Benson's assistant secretary, M. L. McLain, at a special appropriations subcommittee meeting called after Congress learned that Benson had refused to sell 625,000 bales of cotton, after receiving foreign offers for it which Benson considered too low.

"Our failure to sell," the congressman pointed out, "has forced drastic slashes in cotton acreage. As a result 35,000 families have been forced off their farms. Meanwhile, foreign countries are expanding their acreage at our expense."

Civil Defense Is Nation's Foundling

ENIWETOK PROVING GROUND — While ways and means to drop an H-bomb were being studied out here, a group was meeting in the most densely populated section of the United States to figure out what could be done if the Russians hit that area with their own H-bombs.

Almost 33 million people live in Region 1 of the federal civil defense set-up. It takes in New England, New York and New Jersey. Evacuating one city of that area—New York City—would be a job of such colossal proportions that the very study of the problem may take two years. Hiding New York City's people in a hurry is an altogether different problem. If the air raid sirens sounded for real right now, this minute, only about one in four New Yorkers could find shelter, and the adequacy of even that shelter would depend on the location of ground zero.

This and other titanic tasks of what to do with people in the event of an H-bomb attack (the warning time of such attacks is bound to become lesser than a greater) has resulted in conferences among Governors Harriman of New York, Meyer of New Jersey, and Ribicoff of Connecticut and FCDA Region 1 Administrator A. D. O'Connor, who is one of the observers on this trip. The state administrators who try to unravel the knot are Gen. C. K. Huebner (ret.), New York, Thomas Degan, New Jersey, Leo Mulcahy, Connecticut, and New York City Mayor Bob Wagner's CD representative, Gen. Robert E. Condon.

FCDA has asked for a modest $14 million this year for its continuing studies and the work of its seven regions. It could easily be the biggest bargain the American taxpayer will find all year.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

The Sower has frequently heard that this country is retreating because of mental inertia that keeps it from hours of serious reading and instead seek an easier method of the spoken word on radio or pictures on TV.

To check the report we went to the fountain-head of reading, Miss Louise Nixon, secretary of the Nebraska ARCH DONOVAN Library Commission. She reports that the demand for books has doubled since 1950.

"Other mediums create a desire to read the actual text slowly and often several times for complete understanding," she says. "The American thinks for himself and wants to know his facts. He will not take the word of others."

She explained that the greatest demand comes from schools and small libraries that cannot afford extensive book shelves. In addition, she says, individuals with limited or no library facilities call upon the state for aid. Technical books are demanded by industries in smaller towns.

Miss Nixon points out that through an interchange of information between libraries of the state it is possible to get particular books, often rare, that an individual wants.

It is admitted by the library head that possibly some older persons seek easier methods, which though more sketchy, meet their needs, but she points with pride to the avaricious demands by youth for good books.

She cited as an example a recent letter from Mrs. Marvel L. Abbey, teacher in Dist. 67 school in Nance County, apologizing for the late return of books and offering to pay herself for any fines imposed. She explained that her pupils would not return the books until all had opportunity to read them.

In telling of the return of the books, Mrs. Abbey wrote, "They packed the batch lovingly and patted each one good-bye as though they were leaving an old friend." She said each book was in good shape because "each is treated as a pal."

For the old-timer whose reading was very selective, Mrs. Abbey recalled the days before the Carnegie library in her report saying, "Black Beauty was read at least 20 times."

She asserted that eighth grade pupils read aloud "Oliver Twist" and two Richard Halliburton books. Younger pupils completed their work and sat spellbound to listen to the reading.

Mrs. Abbey wrote that the older pupils were especially kind to the younger ones and read books to them too difficult for their limited vocabularies.

She wrote that next year she will not be using the state facilities for books because she has signed to teach in a school that has the advantage of a traveling library which will bring books to the school door.

The letter from Mrs. Abbey is typical of those received from teachers in all sections of the state who do not have library facilities that are adequate in their area. It is leading to demands for traveling county libraries in many counties of the state so that children will have the advantage of books they desire.

Grumbling is common among state employees because no facilities are provided for those who become seriously ill or are hurt. They point out that space is found for agencies not a part of state government while regular employees and visitors are ignored. Many complain that several deaths in the building may have been the result of lack of prompt attention and the time required to summon an ambulance to take them to hospitals.

Further, they say the state already has in its employ several doctors and nurses who could give emergency treatment.

Cause of the upsurge of complaint is the fact that a prominent Omaha attorney attending Supreme Court became quite ill. They report that he was required to lie on three chairs in the lawyer's room and given no attention until removed from the building.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Whosoever Heareth

"Whosoever heareth,"
Shout, shout the sound:
Send the blessed tidings
All the world around:
Spread the joyful news
Wherever man is found:
"Whosoever will, may come."

Whosoever cometh need not delay.
Now the door is open,
Enter while you may:
Jesus is the true,
The only living way:
"Whosoever will, may come."

"Whosoever will,"
The promise is secure:
"Whosoever will,"
Forever must endure:
"Whosoever will,"
This life forevermore:
"Whosoever will, may come."

By HORACE B. POWELL

Every Bible lover has his favorite verses of Scripture, but all of them are fond of the familiar and very beautiful passage in John 3:16.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." An English evangelist, Henry Moorehouse, preached a series of sermons on the Bible verse during a revival which he conducted in Chicago in the winter of 1889. His messages left a deep impression upon all who heard him including some of the outstanding American gospel leaders and singers of the day.

Philip Bliss, the famous singing evangelist of the nineteenth century, was one of the listeners in the revival audience one night. He was moved by the emphasis which the English preacher gave to the word, "whosoever," in the Bible passage which served as his sermon text for the evening.

"There's a hymn in that word," Mr. Bliss decided. A little later he had written the great gospel song, "Whosoever Heareth."

It proved to be a very popular and effective soul-winning hymn in the revivals of that era, and for years afterward. Many men and women have been moved to accept Christ through hearing its message.

Doris Fleeson Writes

of Washington
UNREACHABLE IKE

WASHINGTON — Harry P. Cain has beamed a poignant swan song directly at President Eisenhower in an attempt to reach him over the heads of political aides, including Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who have prevented his direct approach to the President.

Cain is the member of the Subversive Activities Control Board who made a right-wing record as a Republican senator but has emerged as a courageous champion of the civil rights of federal employees.

He has revealed defects in the security system and gross injustices in its administration. Recently he obtained the reinstatement of Sidney Harkin, an Air Force civilian employee, with 14 months of back pay.

Cain's term expires in August. It has become apparent to him that observers long suspected, that he will not be reappointed. Such powerhouses as Brownell, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Presidential Aide Sherman Adams complain he is "not a team player."

Cain's written records show he has tried hard to consult. He has been ignored and sent to Coventry by Eisenhower officials.

His orthodox attempts to go through channels in the manner Mr. Eisenhower prefers have failed. Cain has delivered a speech to the Colorado Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union entitled "The Unvarnished Truth." It is his hope to force the President's attention through his press conference.

The speech is even plainer than previous Cain criticisms. He said he expected soon to be a private citizen and he would talk "as a free citizen who is unafraid of a person but frightened by what his government is doing to make other citizens afraid."

It is Cain's thesis that the President does not get "unpleasant" news. Many here will agree. This is always a presidential problem, affecting Mr. Eisenhower the more strongly because he is not a searching reader, has no passionate curiosity about men or affairs and spends his leisure with companions chosen to give him complete mental relaxation.

"If the President is so burdened with the urgent as to find little time for the important," Cain insisted, "it remains a lasting and pressing obligation for those who surround the President to give every consideration to things important. Matters dealing with internal security and freedom are everlasting important."

He expressed the hope that "someone who has a facility for getting through to those drivers" should be appointed in his place. With a trace of asperity, he suggested that such a person might "make the unpleasant facts of life more digestible to those in higher authority."

Cain calmly marked "poison" on a claim in the May issue of the Republican party's official publication which said that since 1953 there have been 3,700 security risks separated from the government and that 4,000 additional employees have resigned.

The press has joined politicians in protesting such claims. Cain said such numbers are "subject to a large margin of error." Finally, he said in Colorado that the number 3,700—total of the new GOP figures—is "the most erroneous, dangerous and misleading government statistic ever made public."

Medical Costs

Hastings, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Members of an incoming legislative body will have a duty to perform in behalf of their own respective counties. It will be that of revamping the state assistance act. An example of what the Bob Crosby bill has done to the counties will be found by the action of the Lancaster County board. It has used up $200,000 set aside for hospital and medical costs in behalf of those on assistance rolls within Lancaster County and must now draw on the general fund for an additional amount to carry such costs through to the end of the biennium. It was Bob Crosby's own pet bill, throwing such costs back upon the counties where previously it had been charged to the state assistance fund, as it should be a charge at this time. State assistance and not the counties collect the head tax, cigarette and liquor tax with which to pay such costs.

The rules set up by the assistance administration and approved by the Board of Control have brought the excessive medical costs upon the counties. The rule of having to get authorization for such medical care has doubled the cost of the medical to the old folks. They let an attack of illness drag along until it becomes a hospital case, where previously they purchased whatever remedy was needed to head off a serious illness, and sent the drug bill in and it was allowed on their next monthly check. In other words, they started fighting the illness on the spot without even going to a doctor. Today the whole thing has become a graft.

Resources Improvement

Crusaders for the improvement of Nebraska's resources scored a significant victory this week. Their efforts in behalf of the Ainsworth irrigation district were rewarded by authorizing legislation by Congress and President Eisenhower signed it into law Friday.

The $26 million project is not one of Nebraska's biggest, but it is substantial. It will bring managed water to 35,000 heretofore unirrigated acres. There will be a dam in Cherry county on the Snake river and the canals emanating from the reservoir will service crop land in Brown and Rock counties.

It is expected that Congress will shortly make the initial appropriations which will begin the conversion of the project from paper plans into reality.

Step by step but with guarantees of permanence Nebraska is moving toward the goal of greater agricultural diversification and controlled production. It is one of the most significant programs of the current time destined greatly to increase the importance of Nebraska to the general economy and to mature the state on a plane of abiding prosperity and stability.

History will make more of this forward looking movement than will the present.

Why Not Save Money?

It cost the people of Lancaster County a dollar a vote for every voter—man or woman—with adequate strength and determination to march to the polls last Tuesday.

Overhead the skies were blue. The breeze from out of the north added zest to life. Old Mother Nature would have been hard put to think up better conditions to bring out a huge vote.

We have always believed in a primary in preference to the convention method of nominating party candidates for office. We have said on many occasions that if mistakes were to be made, then it was to the interest of the people to make their own mistakes instead of turning that right over to the boys in smoke-filled rooms in the hotels. But if the people are to refuse to make mistakes by staying home, then they have robbed us of our last sound argument for a primary, particularly a primary looking towards preferential expression on presidential candidates.

If it's impossible to get the vote out, then why not abolish the primary? It costs a lot of money. We are not in a position at this time to say what the cost in the 93 counties of the state was, but in Lancaster it ran around $17,000, in Douglas undoubtedly it was larger, and in some of the more populous counties outstate, the costs ranged to sizeable figures.

Why not save the money? If people are not going to take any part in the primary, in the interest of economy reluctantly and regretfully we are ready to toss in the sponge in this long-drawn-out battle on behalf of the primary system. Frankly we are forced to confess it is a joke—a painful joke.

Strange World

It is an incredibly strange world of unrealities which talented, capable Washington columnist Doris Fleson describes on this page.

She is discussing the poignant swan song of former U.S. Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington state who has been serving as a member of the Subversives Activities Control Board. Cain, she says, is endeavoring to break through the political vacuum surrounding President Eisenhower, created in a large sense by Nebraska's Herbert Brownell and other Brownell associates, who have made it a part of their duty to spare the President anything that may smack of criticism. Like, they reason, must neither hear anything nor read anything adverse to him.

Cain's term, expiring in August, means that he will be out because those around the President look upon him as anything but a team player. It is Cain's position, Miss Fleson says, that the President does not get "unpleasant" news. Many

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

We hope that all the fine dreams of the people of northwestern Nebraska in connection with current development of old Ft. Robinson are realized. In early June the 22,000 acres which constitute the fort grounds will be thrown open to the public—that is, a portion of the ground set apart for park purposes and as a historic shrine. A staff has been preparing a museum and other workers have been making ready for this June opening. Before the arrival of fall and its chill and cold, there is the expectation that several thousand visitors to the state and even larger number of Nebraskans will have paid a visit to the historic old fort.

We recall rather vividly the impressions of our first visit to old Ft. Robinson as a cub reporter. There had been a severe late March blizzard which caught the herds of cattle of a famous old cattle country unprotected. And the losses were unusually heavy. We remember one herd which had drifted with the storm in an upper Valley until many head had plunged into the waters, swift and deep, and drowned. It was that way all the way from a point some distance from Ft. Robinson until we reached central Wyoming. And the bodies of those cattle hauled from the water and left on the banks of the streams were a reminder of the days when first, Indian and cattle baron and later, cattle baron and settler fought for the land. We recall that on that same trip two railroad bridges were swept away by flood water shortly after our train had passed over them—flood waters converting normally peaceful clear Sandhill creeks into raging torrents.

In those days troops drawn from the regular army were stationed at Robinson. They gave color to the old fort, contributed testimony to the fact that in the years in the early settlements, Robinson was the most important military post between the Missouri River and old Ft. Laramie.

Then there was the day when the late A. E. Sheldon, for many years superintendent of the Nebraska State Historical Society, told us of the developments which led up to a clash between Indians and soldiers. Dr. Sheldon had a great genius for making history come alive. He was a master at description. For an hour that fall afternoon we saw the last great tragic clash on Nebraska soil between the white man and the Indian.

Rich as Ft. Robinson is in historic association, it offers the visitor another great attraction. There is much of natural beauty to be enjoyed. Four small clear streams provide drainage for its tree-covered hills and green valleys. There is a small lake—or perhaps the better word is "pond." And there the pine grow and while the aspens are not as numerous as they were, we trust there are some survivors from the drought days of the 30's. There is the old parade ground where men were called to attention and in the silent surrounding hills lurk the reveries awakened by recollections of a new country—youth, with arms extended, seeming to say, "Come and take me for your own." We know there in time were buffalo, deer and antelope—that the tiny streams were home to the beaver—and that nature was good and generous.

This fight top reserve Ft. Robinson, ending successfully as it did, could provide a great deal of satisfaction to Americans. We trust there will be a never-ending stream of visitors to the fort in the summer season of 1956 and in the years that follow the line of cars will grow in number.

Oklahoma Solon Has Magic Touch

WASHINGTON — Cong. Victor Wickersham, the Oklahoma Democrat who complains that a congressman's salary is too low to live on, continues to amaze both his colleagues and Washington realtors by the way he's able to roll up profits. Not only does he seem to have an uncanny instinct for knowing in advance where the government is going to place new buildings, but he has a knack for acquiring real estate for next to nothing.

Take, for instance, his acquisition of 382.5 acres of land adjacent to the Everglades National Park in southern Florida. It didn't cost him a single, solitary cent.

Here, according to the congressman's own explanation, is how he managed this real-estate legerdemain.

Wickersham heard that the late D. A. McDougal, once of Sapulpa, Okla., (home town of Mrs. Tom Dewey) had left 17,650 acres near the Everglades National Park when he died. So Wickersham made a deal with the widow and two McDougal daughters to take an option to purchase for $10 an acre, or a total of $176,500. This was a bargain, inasmuch as oil has been found in and around that area.

The astute congressman, who humbly says he was "reared on a cotton, wheat and dairy farm" near Mangum, Okla., then scared up some other realtors to whom he sold 90 per cent of the land for 100 per cent of what it cost him. In return, he kept 5 per cent of 382.5 acres as his fee.

Those who came in on the deal were Gene Olmi, Dr. W. T. Burch, and Tim McCue, all of Alexandria,

Va.; Edgar F. Burch of Fort Lauderdale; and Allan Bruzee of Washington. In other words, they put up the money, Wickersham got a nice chunk of land free.

Note — Wickersham also acquired 376 acres on the Potomac River which the geological survey now covets; also bought eight acres near Colorado Springs, where the Air Force academy is being located; negotiated for land in Virginia near the future Central Intelligence Agency building; and owns two tracts of land in western Maryland between the proposed geological survey site and the new Atomic Energy Commission building.

COTTON GYRATIONS

The changeableness of Ezra Benson in wanting to sell his cotton surplus, then not selling it, then promising to sell it, then withdrawing it, has Congressman Jamie Whitten of Mississippi really sore.

"I seem wrought up and I am," he said frankly to Benson's assistant secretary, M. L. McLain, at a special appropriations subcommittee meeting called after Congress learned that Benson had refused to sell 628,000 bales of cotton to it receiving foreign offers for it which Benson considered too low.

"Your failure to sell," the congressman pointed out, "has forced drastic slashes in cotton acreage. As a result 55,000 families have been forced off their farms. Meanwhile, foreign countries are expanding their acreage at our expense."

BOB CONSIDINE

Civil Defense Is Nation's Foundling

ENIWETOK PROVING GROUND — While ways and means to drop an H-bomb were being studied out here, a group was meeting in the most densely populated section of the United States to figure out what could be done if the Russians hit that area with their own H-jobs.

Almost 33 million people live in Region 1 of the federal civil defense set-up. It takes in New England, New York and New Jersey. Evacuating one city of that area — New York City — would be a job of such colossal proportions that the very study of the problem may take two years. Hiding New York City's people in a hurry is an altogether different problem. If the air raid sirens sounded for real right now, this minute, only about one in four New Yorkers could find shelter, and the adequacy of even that shelter would depend on the location of ground zero.

This and other titanic tasks of what to do with people in the event of an H-bomb attack (the warning time of such attacks is bound to become lesser than greater) has resulted in conferences among Governors Harriman of New York, Meyer of New Jersey, and Ribicoff of Connecticut and FCDA Region 1 Administrator A. D. O'Connor, who is one of the observers on this trip. The state administrators who try to unravel the knot are Gen. C. K. Huebner (ret.), New York, Thomas Degnan, New Jersey, Leo Mulcahy, Connecticut, and New York City Mayor Bob Wagner's CD representative, Gen. Robert E. Condon.

FCDA has asked for a modest $14 million this year for its continuing studies and the work of its seven regions. It could easily be the biggest bargain the American taxpayer will find all year.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

The Sower has frequently heard that this country is retreating because of mental inertia that keeps it from hours of serious reading and instead seek an easier method of the spoken word on radio or pictures on TV.

To check the report we went to the fountain-head of reading, Miss Louise Nixon, secretary of the Nebraska ARCH DONOVAN Library Commission. She reports that the demand for books has doubled since 1950.

"Other mediums create a desire to read the actual text slowly and often several times for complete understanding," she says. "The American thinks for himself and wants to know his facts. He will not take the word of others."

She explained that the greatest demand comes from schools and small libraries that cannot afford extensive book shelves. In addition, she says, individuals with limited or no library facilities call upon the state for aid. Technical books are demanded by industries in smaller towns.

Miss Nixon points out that through an interchange of information between libraries of the state it is possible to get particular books, often rare, that an individual wants.

It is admitted by the library head that possibly some older persons seek easier methods, which though more sketchy, meet their needs, but she points with pride to the avoculist demands by youth for good books.

She cited as an example a recent letter from Mrs. Marvel L. Abbey, teacher in Dist. 67 school in Nance County, apologizing for the late return of books and offering to pay herself for any fines imposed. She explained that her pupils would not return the books until all had opportunity to read them.

In telling of the return of the books, Mrs. Abbey wrote, "They packed the batch lovingly and paid each one good-bye as though they were leaving an old friend." She said each book was in good shape because "each is treated as a pal."

For the old-timer whose reading was very selective, Mrs. Abbey recalled the days before the Carnegie library in her report saying, "Black Beauty was read at least 20 times."

She asserted that eighth grade pupils read aloud "Oliver Twist" and two Richard Halliburton books. Younger pupils completed their work and sat spellbound to listen to the reading.

Mrs. Abbey wrote that the older pupils were especially kind to the younger ones and read books to them too difficult for their limited vocabularies.

She wrote that next year she will not be using the state facilities for books because she has signed to teach in a school that has the advantage of a traveling library which will bring books to the school door.

The letter from Mrs. Abbey is typical of those received from teachers in all sections of the state who do not have library facilities that are adequate in their area. It is leading to demands for traveling county libraries in many counties of the state so that children will have the advantage of books they desire.

Grumbling is common among state employees because no facilities are provided for those who become seriously ill or are hurt. They point out that space is found for agencies not a part of state government while regular employees and visitors are ignored.

Many complain that several deaths in the building may have been the result of lack of prompt attention and the time required to summon an ambulance to take them to hospitals.

Further, they say the state already has in its employ several doctors and nurses who could give emergency treatment.

Cause of the upsurge of complaint is the fact that a prominent Omaha attorney attending Supreme Court became quite ill. They report that he was required to lie on three chairs in the lawyer's room and given no attention until removed from the building.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Whosoever Heareth

"Whosoever heareth,"
Shout, shout the sound;
Send the blessed tidings
All the world around;
Spread the joyful news
Wherever man is found;
"Whosoever will, may come."

Whosoever cometh need not delay,
Now the door is open,
Enter while you may;
Jesus is the true,
The only living way;
"Whosoever will may come."

"Whosoever will,"
The promise is secure;
"Whosoever will;
Forever must endure;
"Whosoever will,
'Tis life forevermore;
"Whosoever will may come."

By HORACE B. POWELL

Every Bible lover has his favorite verses of Scripture, but all of them are fond of the familiar and very beautiful passage in John 3:16. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." An English evangelist, Henry Moorehouse, preached a series of sermons on the Bible verse during a revival which he conducted in Chicago in the winter of 1889. His messages left a deep impression upon all who heard him, including some of the outstanding American gospel leaders and singers of the day.

Philip Bliss, the famous singing evangelist of the nineteenth century, was one of the listeners in the revival audience one night. He was moved by the emphasis which the English preacher gave to the word, "whosoever," in the Bible passage which served as his sermon text for the evening.

"There's a hymn in that word," Mr. Bliss decided. A little later he had written the great gospel song, "Whosoever Heareth."

It proved to be a very popular and effective soul-winning hymn in the revivals of that era, and for years afterward. Many men and women have been moved to accept Christ through hearing its message.

Doris Fleson Writes

of Washington UNREACHABLE IKE

WASHINGTON — Harry P. Cain has beamed a poignant swan song directly at President Eisenhower in an attempt to reach him over the heads of political aides, including Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who have prevented his direct approach to the President.

Cain is the member of the Subversives Activities Control Board who made a right-wing record as a Republican senator but has emerged as a courageous champion of the civil rights of federal employees.

He has revealed defects in the security system and gross injustices in its administration. Recently he obtained the reinstatement of Sidney Hatkin, an Air Force civilian employee, with 14 months of back pay.

Cain's term expires in August. It has become apparent to him what observers long suspected, that he will not be reappointed. Such powerhouses as Brownell, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Presidential Aide Sherman Adams complain he is "not a team player."

Cain's written records show he has tried hard to consult. He has been ignored and sent to Coventry by Eisenhower officials.

His orthodox attempts to go through channels in the manner Mr. Eisenhower prefers have failed. Cain has delivered a speech to the Colorado Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union entitled "The Unvarnished Truth." It is his hope to force the President's attention through his press conference.

The speech is even plainer than previous Cain criticisms. He said he expected soon to be a private citizen and he would talk "as a free citizen who is unafraid of a person but frightened by what his government is doing to make other citizens afraid."

It is Cain's thesis that the President does not get "unpleasant" news. Many here will agree. This is always a presidential problem, affecting Mr. Eisenhower the more strongly because he is not a searching reader, has no passionate curiosity about men or affairs and spends his leisure with companions chosen to give him complete mental relaxation.

"If the President is so burdened with the urgent as to find little time for the important," Cain insisted, "it remains a lasting and pressing obligation for those who surround the President to give every consideration to things important. Matters dealing with internal security and freedom are everlastingly important."

He expressed the hope that "someone who has a facility for getting through to those advisers" should be appointed in his place. With a trace of asperity, he suggested that such a person might "make the unpleasant facts of life more digestible to those in higher authority."

Cain calmly marked "poison" on a claim in the May issue of the Republican party's official publication which said that since 1953 there have been 3,700 security risks separated from the government and that 6,000 additional employees have resigned.

The press has joined politicians in protesting such claims. Cain said such numbers are "subject to a large margin of error." Flatly, he said in Colorado that the number 9,700—total of the new GOP figures — is "the most erroneous, dangerous and misleading government statistic ever made public."

Niagara Power

(From The New York Times)

Once again the question whether the great electric power potential of Niagara Falls shall be developed by a state agency or by private industry is debated in Congress. A delay of more than five years has already occurred in taking advantage of the 1950 treaty with Canada that established water rights. The waste in benefits for the people incurred through this delay and waiting for the effectuation of policy now to be decided is costly and irrecoverable. This Congressional session should reach a decision, and the right one.

It would be unthinkable for Congress to turn over development of Niagara, this monumental and unique possession of the people, to the exploitation of a combine of private power companies.

The way to help the greatest number of domestic and rural customers is by giving them power, as widely and fairly distributed as possible, with rates subject to such controls as are customarily exercised over utility company profits.

Stevenson Write-In Votes Top 3,000

Mother Lake Last Precinct Reporting In

By The Associated Press
Adlai Stevenson polled 3,147 write-in votes for the Democratic presidential preference in Nebraska's primary election Tuesday, with probably a thousand or more votes to be added when the official count is made, starting June 4.

Corrections in figures reported by counting boards earlier lowered a previous total by about one hundred votes.

The state's two most heavily populated counties, Douglas (Omaha) and Lancaster (Lincoln) accounted for 2,117 of the write-ins.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the only candidate listed on the Democratic preference ballot, received 54,582 votes when the Associated Press completed unofficial tabulations from all of Nebraska's 2,127 precincts. President Eisenhower polled 100,779 for the Republican preference. He was unopposed and there appeared to be little write-in activity on the Republican ticket, although scattered votes showed for Vice-President Nixon, Chief Justice Warren and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.).

Harriman Polls 125
Gov. Averell Harriman of New York polled at least 125 write-in votes in the Democratic balloting. Earlier he was listed as having received several hundred votes but corrections in the vote reported brought this figure down.

Other scattered write-in votes in the Democratic balloting were given Sen. Russell of Georgia, former President Truman, Sen. Symington of Missouri, Gov. Lausche of Ohio, Sen. Johnson of Texas and President Eisenhower even received some write-in votes including 11 in Platte County (Columbus).

The preference vote is not binding on delegates, but a tally of those apparently elected showed 17 of the 18 Republican delegates recorded in support of President Eisenhower and five of the Democrats favoring Kefauver. Six of the remaining seven had listed themselves as undecided and the seventh said he was inclined to favor Stevenson.

Second Lowest Turnout
The turnout of between 160,000 and 165,000 votes was the second lowest in 36 years. The 1944 total was 143,623.

The final unofficial report was completed Friday afternoon with the tabulating of 16 votes from Mother Lake precinct in the remote sandhills country of southwest Cherry County, traditionally one of the last to report. Mother Lake precinct added four votes to President Eisenhower's total and 12 to Kefauver's.

Gov. Victor Anderson received six votes for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Ted Baum received 4 for the Democratic gubernatorial and Frank Sorrell five.

Burney Still Leads
In the closest of the statewide races former State Treasurer Carl G. Swanson picked up 3 more votes and State Sen. Dwight Burney 2 for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor. This left Burney with a lead of 239 over Swanson, not counting the mail or absentee ballots yet to be added to the totals. The final total was: Burney 29,288, Swanson 29,050.

The final tabulation made Anderson 84,846 to 18,020 winner over Edwin L. Hart of Lincoln and Sorrell 42,238 to 18,032 winner over Baum.

Solon Candidate Tews Hopes To Debate Opponent Charlton

Lincoln Star Special
NORFOLK, Neb. — David Tews, the young Norfolk lawyer who led in the primary race for the state unicameral in the fifteenth Legislative District, would like to debate various state issues with his opponent in the November campaign. Tews' opponent will be Dr. G. E. Charlton, the former superintendent of the Norfolk State Hospital, who finished second in the Tuesday balloting.

Tews, 26, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Law a year ago, campaigned from house to house in every city in Madison and Pierce counties, except Norfolk, where he concentrated on the business places.

Surprised By Vote
He was "surprised" at the Norfolk vote where he unofficially won nine of the 12 precincts, and plans a house-to-house effort in Norfolk prior to the November elections. He will begin his campaign about the first of October, and plans to work "as hard as before" throughout the two counties. Tews said that he has no specific legislative program at this time, but would, if elected, "look at each bill carefully" before making any decision.

In his primary campaign, Tews worked "actively" for three weeks, passing out 6,000 cards and talking with several thousand voters. He polled 2,163 votes while Dr. Charlton received 1,780.

The two defeated State Sen. William Purdy, Norfolk farmer, the lone Unicameral member up for re-election. Purdy received 1,304 votes.

BALBOA, Calif. (AP) - A socially prominent yachtsman, in bed with a smashed leg, hanged himself with a light cord strung on the traction pulley above him the Orange County coroner's office reported.

House Committee Reverses Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee reversed itself Friday and voted down a proposal that might have blocked U. S. aid to many foreign nations.

But the committee came "very close" to slashing about a billion dollars out of President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 aid bill. Then it decided to put off a final decision until next Tuesday.

Chairman Richards (D-S.C.) announced the committee actions after the fourth straight day of closed sessions on Eisenhower's foreign aid request for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Temporarily, at least, the decisions favored the administration. It had been expected to fight vigorously a proposal sponsored by Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) and adopted by the committee late Thursday.

Britain "Lenient"

The Kelly proposal was to bar U. S. aid to any country shipping strategic goods to the Communist bloc which the United States itself does not allow to be exported to the Reds. Many countries, including Great Britain, have been more lenient than the United States in allowing shipments to the Iron Curtain. Richards said the committee reversed the Thursday decision and voted to knock the Kelly amendment out of the bill.

He did not disclose the vote count. He indicated the committee's general idea was not to put such a sweeping restriction on the foreign aid program until a special commission to be appointed by Eisenhower has had a chance to make a basic restudy of the whole program.

Very Close Votes

As for Eisenhower's money request, Richards reported there were a number of "very close votes," including one tie, on various proposals to knock out funds. None of the votes carried, he said, but one "very close" vote was on the question of knocking out nearly a billion dollars.

Since only 22 of the 32 committee members were on hand during the closed session, Richards said, a final decision on this key point was put off until next Tuesday when the remaining 10 votes could make a big difference.

Administration officials have said any cut below around four billion dollars may force a major revamping of the program to bolster free world countries against communism.

George L. Morris Governor Petitions Are In Circulation

George L. Morris, former State Reformatory superintendent, confirmed Friday that petitions are being circulated to put his name on the November ballot as an independent candidate for governor.

He said petitions are being circulated in Lincoln and Omaha and in Seward, Buffalo, Phelps, Kearney, Otoe and Richardson counties. Morris said 1,000 signatures are needed to have his name put on the ballot but "considerably more than that" are being sought. Morris said if he does file the petitions it will be done next month. He was ousted by the State Board of Control last year and has been a bitter critic of the board and of Gov. Victor Anderson, who will be seeking re-election in November on the Republican ticket.

Dean Burr Honored By NU Ag Hall

Headed College
Twenty Years

W. W. Burr, dean emeritus of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture, was honored at a banquet Friday night by the Nebraska State Hall of Agricultural Experimentation as an "outstanding researcher, teacher, and administrator."

Dean Burr came to Nebraska from Indiana graduating from the College of Agriculture in 1906. At that time he accepted a cooperative position with the University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture as an agronomist at the North Platte Agricultural Experiment Station.

His work at the station led him in 1913 to be assistant agronomist in the Office of Dry Land Agriculture in Washington, D.C. He came back to Nebraska in 1916 as head of the agronomy department and was later appointed assistant director of the Agricultural Experiment Station. He became dean of the College and director of the Experiment Station in 1928; a post he held until his retirement in 1944.

'Chart Course'

"We called upon Mr. Burr and colleagues to assess the past, to contemplate the present, and to chart a course for the future at a time when agriculture was undergoing a profound revolution," Senator O. H. Liebers, Lincoln, told those attending the banquet. "And, as we can all testify, our society does not always provide men like Mr. Burr with all of the tools required to accomplish the mission."

"Yes, I believe it is a marvelous thing that men such as Mr. Burr persevere. Our agricultural progress would be much less than it is today had they not persevered. This calls for something more—much more—than technical competence, as important as that attribute is," Liebers continued.

'Courage, Humility'

"It also requires a warm heart, an understanding spirit, sound judgment, courage, responsibility, insight, and humility. These are the qualities that not only helped Mr. Burr understand and appreciate the dynamics of agriculture, but the men and women who earn their livelihood from it," Liebers stated. "We have come a long way in Nebraska agriculture and a generous share of credit for this achievement belongs to 'Bill' Burr."

Other speakers on the program who told of Burr's accomplishments were L. L. Zook, retired superintendent of the North Platte Experiment Station and W. H. Brookaw, retired director of extension at the University.

The Burrs had two children: Jean, now Mrs. Ronald Anderson of Ithaca, New York, and Bill, member of the Southwest Medical Center staff in Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Burr, the former Aurelia Scott, passed away several years ago.

Wilson Guilty; Ellsworth Still Facing Trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Raymond P. Wilson, 33-year-old ex-convict from Tulsa, Okla., Friday was found guilty of participating in the strangling of Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, 76-year-old wealthy Philadelphia widow last July 3.

Mrs. Rossman was found slain in her hotel room here on July 4. Wilson and three other men—to be tried later—were accused of plotting the murder to steal more than $100,000 from the elderly woman's hotel room.

Others indicted in the case included Frank J. Ellsworth, 36, of Tampa, Fla., and Omaha, Neb.

Wilson and Ellsworth were seized at Las Vegas, Nev., last July 7 after they were seen flashing a number of $100 bills. When arrested they had in their possession about $87,000, mostly in bills of that denomination, and — the state contended — the serial numbers were in close sequence to others uncovered in Mrs. Rossman's safety deposit box.

Chiefs Lose 7-5 Despite 3 Homers; Smith Sold

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Colorado Springs pushed across three runs with two out in the eighth inning Friday night to stop the Western League leading Lincoln Chiefs, 7-5, in the opener of a 4-game series.

Paul Brissette doubled with two away and pinch hitter Dick Means reached first when he was hit by one of Don Williams' pitches.

Then Bobby Winkles singled in the run and Means came all the way around from first when pitcher Joe Zavaturo let the cut field throw elude him. Winkles scored the insurance run on a balk.

Right-handed Russ Heman struck out 12 Lincoln batters, to record his second victory of the season. He set down the last 14 Chiefs in a row.

Williams lost his second game in three decisions. Only four of the seven runs he gave up were earned, however.

Lincoln stretched its home run spree to 10 in the last two games with round trippers by Reggie Grenald, Dick Stuart and Bill Jackson. They accounted for four of the losers' five runs, all of them earned.

Oerter Throws Discus 183-Plus In Big 7 Meet

By SKIPPER PATRICK
MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Kansas University's sophomore strong man Al Oerter got off a meet record discus throw of 183 feet, 5 1/2 inches Friday as the Jayhawks advanced 16 men into the finals of the Big Seven Conference track and field championships Saturday.

Another meet record in the preliminaries went to Ken Yob, senior from Colorado, in the javelin throw. Yob, whose best previous throw was 205 feet, got off a throw of 222-10 to better the mark of 219-4 1/2 set by Les Bitner of Kansas last year.

Peter Orr, a lean Missouri junior, tied the record of 47.1 seconds for the 440-yard qualifying run. Thane Baker of Kansas State set the mark in 1933.

Oklahoma, second in the outdoor meet last year, was second in the trials Friday with 12 men. Colorado and the host Kansas State Wildcats each qualified 10, Missouri nine, Iowa State seven and Nebraska four.

Bill Nieder of Kansas, one of two men on record to push the 16-pound shot past 60 feet, didn't manage to beat his old meet record of 57-11 1/2. But he did 57-7 1/2, and has three more tries in the final Saturday.

OU's Baseball Protest Upheld

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—The Big Seven Conference Faculty committee Friday upheld Oklahoma's protest of a baseball game forfeited to Missouri and ordered the game be played if it could figure in the championship outcome.

The forfeit came at Columbia, Mo., last Tuesday when Oklahoma Coach Jack Baer refused to let his team play on an emergency grass diamond after the regular infield was made unplayable by rain.

Friday's action on the protest—which Oklahoma Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson described as "only a discussion"—boosted Oklahoma back into first place in the conference standings with a 4-1 record and dropped Missouri into second at 6-2.

NU Wins On Homer In Ninth

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star
A booming bottom-of-the-ninth home run by Nebraska third baseman Don Brown gave the Huskers a 10-7 victory over the Missouri Tigers Friday afternoon and kept NU conference hopes burning.

The Cornhuskers tackle the Tigers again Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., and a Nebraska win will move the Huskers ahead of Missouri in the standings.

Nebraska is now 6-3, while the Tigers are 7-3.

Friday's Horatio Alger finish came after the Huskers kicked away a 7-6 lead in the top of the ninth.

It was Husker Willie Greenlaw against Tiger Norm Stewart—who pastimes with the Missouri cage team in the winter—and it looked like Willie had things under control when he fanned the leadoff batter in the ninth.

But an error and a wild pitch put Paul Stehr on second. Then, after Willie fanned Bob Musgrave, Gary Reimers misjudged a fly ball to center field and John Grace had a triple and the Tigers had tied it up 7-7.

Willie got the next man to fly out and the Huskers picked up their war clubs.

Stewart started digging his own grave by hitting leadoff man Jim Kane, who had homered with a man on in the sixth. Al Karle sacrificed him to second. Stewart then failed to throw out Norm Coufal after fielding the latter's bouncer and up stepped Brown.

Don looked at a couple of pitches, chose the one he liked, and sent it sailing high over the left field fence to win up the proceedings.

A five-run Nebraska outburst in the home half of the fifth narrowed the gap to 6-5 and Kane's homer in the sixth put the Huskers in front until the Tigers rallied in the ninth.

In picking up his third win—he's lost four—Greenlaw fanned 10 Tigers, but his six walks kept him working overtime. Stewart struck out six and walked three.

Yankees Pass Chicago, 8-7; Mantle Stars

CHICAGO (AP)—Andy Carey's run-scoring single in the 10th inning with two out snapped a 7-7 tie and pushed the New York Yankees to an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday night in a wild contest in which Mickey Mantle hit home runs from both sides of the plate.

Mantle's second drive of the game came, with two out in the ninth inning, enabled the Yankees to tie the score after the Sox had overcome a four-run lead and gone ahead 7-6.

Next Goal—Archie's Title

By JACK STEVENSON
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Minutes after retaining his middleweight boxing title, Sugar Ray Robinson indicated his next goal will be another shot at the lightweight crown.

Breathing normally in a dressing room filled with jubilation, Robinson nodded when one of his managers, Joe Glasser, told newsmen they now wanted to go after the 175-pound title currently owned by Archie Moore.

Sugar Ray tried once before to go up a step and lost via a 14th round kayo to ex-champ Joey Maxim in 1932.

About Friday night's fight, Robinson said:

"On orders from my corner I was holding back and trying to feel him out. Olson was just trying to stay. He wasn't trying to fight too much. I set him up with a right to the body and the knock-out punch was the left hook to the jaw. I hit him good."

"He didn't hurt me."

"Olson didn't hurt me although he did get in a good left hook to my stomach in the third round. I wasn't a devastating puncher but I knew I was hit."

Somebody asked the turning point of the fight.

"When I knocked him out," the Harlem dandy laughed back.

Olson still was dazed and dejected in his dressing room. He kept shaking his head and asking his manager Sid Flaherty:

"How could it happen so fast?"

Bobo said he never saw the punch and never heard the referee's count of 10.

Powerful Left Hook Decks Challenger

By BOB MYERS
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson of New York, with a magnificent display of precision punching, retained his world middleweight championship Friday night when he knocked out the ex-champion, Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco with sensational suddenness in the fourth round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

The end came with a start and a jolt at 2 minutes and 51 seconds of the fourth when the Harlem dancing master lured Olson in with a short right and then unleashed one blow—a left hook that caught Bobo flush on the chin.

Olson almost flipped over backwards in a somersault and landed flat on his back. As Referee Mushy Callahan got to about the 7-count, Olson rolled over on his stomach and was trying to lift himself from the canvas.

The Bobo man could not do it and Robinson had registered his fourth victory and third knockout over Olson in a series dating back to 1930 and really climaxed in Chicago last December when Sugar Ray knocked Olson out in two rounds to win back the title.

Robinson was still the master, despite his 35 years of age and 16 years in the ring, and the crowd gathered in perfect weather at Wrigley Field gave him a tremendous ovation as he left the scene.

Robinson was ahead on points for the first three rounds in action that was fairly fast. But Olson opened the fourth in forceful fashion and seemed on his way toward winning the round and even giving the champion a rough go.

He made Robinson miss a looping right uppercut and he landed a good stiff left to the mouth midway in the round. Sugar Ray danced back in retreat for perhaps the first time during the fight and the Olson people began to show marked interest in their man.

Then came the dramatic left hook and the fight became almost a carbon copy at twice the distance of the last battle they had in Chicago.

The referee had Robinson in front by one point after three rounds under the 10-points-per-round scoring system. He gave Olson the third round. Judge Tommy Hart had Robinson 30-27, winning two and calling the third round even. Judge Frankie Van had Robinson winning all three rounds. The Associated Press called the third even and had Robinson two points ahead.

The crowd was estimated at 18,000 with gate receipts approximately $200,000.

Robinson set a fast pace as soon as the bell sounded to open the nationally-televized scrap. He shot a right that jolted Olson's head and followed with a left hook to the jaw.

Olson always is a slow man to get started and it was obvious that his battle plan was to either stay clear of Robinson's longer reach or stick in close and tie Sugar up in clinches.

Olson drew a few boxes for clinching, including a loud one when he wrestled Robinson into the ropes near his own corner.

Late in the third, Olson connected with a sneak right to the jaw. It did not seem to bother the champion but it may have made Bobo grow bolder.

Olson opened the fatal fourth with a display of aggressiveness and Robinson even looked worried as the round progressed. He must have been pulling an act for when he struck it was like lightning and almost as lethal.

Strings Tied To Bobo, Sugar Ray's Title Fight Purse

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson of New York and challenger Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco weighed in on schedule for their 15-round title fight and in two rapid developments both were faced with legal action to tie up their purses.

Olson's estranged wife, Helen V. Olson, in Redwood City, filed a suit to freeze Bobo's purse, and later the U.S. Bureau of Internal Revenue slapped a lien for $89,981.91 against Robinson in a back income tax wrangle.

Robert Riddell, district director of internal revenue here, said he took the action after a telephone call from the bureau in New York City earlier today.

Chiefs Lose 7-5 Despite 3 Homers; Smith Sold

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Colorado Springs pushed across three runs with two out in the 8th inning Friday night to stop the Western League leading Lincoln Chiefs, 7-5, in the opener of a 4-game series.

Paul Brissette doubled with two away and pinch-hitter Dick Means reached first when he was hit by one of Don Williams' pitches.

Then Bobby Winkles singled in the tying run and Means came all the way around from first when catcher Joe Zavattaro let the out field throw elude him. Winkles scored the insurance run on a balk.

Righthander Russ Heman struck out 12 Lincoln batters to record his second victory of the season. He set down the last 14 Chiefs in a row.

Williams lost his second game in three decisions. Only four of the seven runs he gave up were earned, however.

Lincoln stretched its home run spree to 10 in the last two games with round-trippers by Reggie Grenald, Dick Stuart and Bill Jackson. They accounted for four of the losers' five runs, all of them earned.

Dick DiTusa drove in three of the Sky Sox tallies with a solo blast and a two-run single.

In Saturday night's game, Ben Daniels (3-0) will hurl for the Chiefs against Colorado Springs' Fritz Ackley (0-1).

The Chiefs announced the sale of outfielder Earl Smith to Savannah, Ga. of the Class A Sally League. Smith will return to Lincoln before reporting to Savannah.

Smith was hitting .286 with the Chiefs. The loss of Smith cut the Lincoln roster to 19.

10 Wheat Promotion Projects Planned

The Nebraska Wheat Commission Friday announced it would undertake ten projects designed to promote Nebraska's wheat industry.

Largest financially is a $13,000-a-year, three-year study of the value of wheat as a beef cattle feed and of feeding methods to be made by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The commission also will examine possibilities of an educational campaign designed to increase sales of American - grown hard red winter wheat in Italy and Greece. It was pointed out Argentina has been cutting into American sales in these countries.

Through USDA

The campaign would be conducted through the United States Department of Agriculture foreign agricultural service. It would include visits by Greek and Italian officials to this country to observe our production methods.

Other projects approved:

Co-operation with the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association in a stepped-up campaign to advertise Nebraska wheat and flour in national milling and baking trade journals.

Ag College Study

A University Ag College study of high proteins in wheat. This will be a five-year, $2,000-a-year project.

Establishment of a wheat marketing educational exhibit in the annual Ag College traveling agricultural display.

A study of industrial uses of grain alcohol.

A program to encourage wheat poster contests in Nebraska schools. They would be displayed at fairs and other events.

Bake Contests

Establishment of state-wide baking contests.

A program of educational exhibits for display at the State Fair and at county fairs depicting the various uses of wheat products.

Distribution of 12,000 pieces of literature on a request basis showing the various uses of bread and wheat food products to Omaha-area school children. The American Institute of Baking will provide the literature on an at-cost basis.

The projects were announced at the close of the commission's two-day meeting. The commission was set up by the State Legislature last year to promote Nebraska's wheat industry. A one-fourth cent bushel tax was levied on Nebraska wheat to finance projects.

$68,888 Collected

Commission chairman Carson R. Smith of Ogallala said $68,888 has been collected since the tax went into effect Sept. 18, 1955. Leslie F. Sheffield, chief of the State Agriculture Department's division of wheat development, said the tax is expected to provide from $100,000 to $150,000 each crop year.

Other commission members are L. E. Welch of Hubbell, Berton Cunningham of Gurley, Telford Ewing of Gering, Herbert J. Hughes of Imperial, Earl Lester of Edison and Willard Waldo of DeWitt. Welch serves as vice chairman.

Smith said the eight projects approved represent about 10 per cent of the many projects considered. Details of the projects will be further discussed at the next commission meeting June 28-29.

Game Board Gets Frank 'Gripes' List

The State Game Commission Friday afternoon received a list of recommendations aimed at strengthening the hands of the five district chiefs who had complained of a lack of sufficient authority to carry out commission policies.

Most of the recommendations were directed along the line of maintaining a stronger chain of command. They provide also for a more efficient channeling of information to the chiefs.

One of the complaints expressed earlier in the day had been that some employees were "going over the head" of their immediate superiors in the districts and consulting state headquarters directly about their problems.

Came To Head

The situation came to a head when the commission at its meeting Friday morning called in the district chiefs for a frank discussion on the district set-up which was placed in operation about two years ago.

Sam Grasmick, North Platte, said some field officers do not respect the advice of their chief.

Bob Benson, chief at Norfolk, said he believed the district plan could be made to work, but it is not working now.

The commission took no formal action on the written recommendations presented later in the day by the five district chiefs, but individual members indicated their approval, and Vice Chairman Frank Button of Ogallala said a letter should be sent to the chiefs thanking them for their suggestions.

Nebraska Psychological Group To Hold Meeting

The Nebraska Psychological Association will hold its annual meeting Saturday at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute at Omaha.

The program will consist of a morning business meeting followed by reading of papers by Chester W. Darrow and A. Siegel of the Institute for Juvenile Research, Chicago, and Robert C. Wilcott, Gerald R. Patterson, and Malcolm M. Helper, all trainees at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute.

Officers of the Association are: president, Dr. H. H. Humphreys of Omaha, assistant professor of neurology and psychiatry; president-elect, Dr. William J. Arnold of Lincoln, associate professor of psychology; and secretary-treasurer, Dr. Boyd D. Sisson of Lincoln, instructor in psychology, all of the University of Nebraska.

Move around a lot? See the offers under "Trailer Homes" in the Want Ads.

Student Art Work Now On Display

An exhibition of the best student art work at the University of Nebraska opened Friday at the Morrill Hall Art Galleries.

Oil painting, water color, sculpture, ceramics, drawing, graphics, commercial art, interior decoration, lettering, design and art education are among the media on display. The exhibit includes work done by students enrolled in night classes.

A new feature this year is the inclusion of work by recent NU graduates. This is an exhibition of drawings and paintings by William Lyberis and Tom Schmitt, both from Lincoln.

State Rurals Have Money, Could Loan To Tri-County

The possible emergence of Nebraska's rural electrification districts as accommodation bankers for Nebraska major electric power producing agencies took on substance after a look at the rurals' invested reserves.

Twenty-four of Nebraska's rural districts have accumulated reserves exceeding $5.5 million dollars audit reports show.

The Tri-County Public Power and Irrigation recently asked the rurals for $1 million of short term credit after its overall $17 million financing on the new Lexington steam power plant was delayed by the national Rural Electric Administration. Tri-County asked the rurals to help it cover its interim construction costs in order to assure completion of the plant before 1958's threatened state power shortage.

Caught by the same REA delaying action which stemmed from uncertainty over the outcome of inter-agency litigation now before the Supreme Court, the Nebraska Public Power System also has asked the Nebraska rurals for interim credit aid in its projected transmission line extension. NPPS needs approximately $4.5 million. While the rurals have $5.5 million in invested reserves, John Clema, executive secretary of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, pointed out that not all of it could be released for lending. Some of the funds represents essential balances maintained for their own debt serves and for minimum security.

The audit reports show the rurals' reserves as follows:

Burt County, $290,000.
Butler County, $104,440.
Cedar-Ross, $300,000.
Cornhusker, $345,120.

Board Of Control Troubles 'Entirely Ones Of Personnel,' Says McGinley

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Members of a Legislative Council Committee Friday were reluctant to talk about evidence given them in executive session, but Chairman Don McGinley of Ogallala told a public meeting that "there appears to be nothing wrong with the Board of Control system and that problems are entirely ones of personnel."

Speakers at the open hearing echoed these sentiments. Henry Behrens, former board member said that "there is too much politics and not enough ability."

He told of efforts by the Legislature to keep out politics when the law was passed. He placed responsibility on governors making the appointments.

Behrens urged that members spend more time at institutions and said "we don't need them sitting in swivel chairs. Proposals that a specialist head different sections caused him to remark that "each man would have a group of flunkies chasing around."

Parents Of Blind

Robert E. Ramey of North Platte, president of Parents of the Blind, told of his organization and studies it has made since the last session. He devoted his remarks to the School for the Blind at Nebraska City.

He said that the first aim of the association is the welfare of the blind, to make them self sufficient and capable of earning their own living and adjusting to society. He denied the main objective is moving of the school.

Ramey said the group favored giving training of the blind to the Board of Education rather than the Board of Control. He gave the board statistics from a question naire sent all parents of blind, which he said 61 per cent answered.

80% Dissatisfied

The returns showed that 80 per cent are dissatisfied with the present school at Nebraska City, Ramey said, and the feeling is that it should be educational rather than charitable.

Ramey reported that 40 per cent favored administration by the Board of Education while only 15 per cent want it left with the Board of Control. Five per cent favored a combination of the two.

Among improvements Ramey reported most favor better educational facilities while 26 per cent urged more home economics and 1 per cent a better gymnasium. Forty per cent believe the physical plant should be improved, he said.

Others mentioned were inadequate staff salaries based on Nebraska City school wages. He explained that the work is not comparable because blind teachers work 24 hours a day. Transportation, he explained is the chief complaint against the present location.

Location

Regarding location, he said 32 per cent favor the central part of the state, 16 per cent Kearney and the same number for Nebraska City, 14 per cent favor Lincoln and 5 per cent Omaha. Four per cent favor a college town and two per cent want it near any teachers college.

More than half of the parents wants training in the local public schools, he said, but pointed to the shortage of qualified teachers. He urged that special training be given in state colleges for teachers.

Ramey particularly and repeatedly urged that the instruction not be in the hands of one person but directed by a board. He claimed it would lead to theories rather than actual benefits.

Greatest Benefits

Greatest benefits blind have received, he said, is from pre school clinics now being organized over the state by the Services for the Blind.

C. V. Keller, former license plate factory superintendent at the Men's Reformatory, said that he wanted to talk to the committee but was not ready. He indicated that he will speak at the Saturday morning session.

Friday morning executive session, the committee heard from the Nebraska Welfare Association ex member W. H. Diers of Gresham and R. C. Patterson, adjutant of the American Legion.

Dean Emeritus W. W. Burr Honored

Miller Suggests Military Missiles Under One Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) suggests that development of the nation's military missiles should be handled by one research department under the Secretary of Defense.

In a recent statement in the Congressional Record, Miller noted that the Army's missile is known as the Nike and the Navy's is called Talos, both developed through research at taxpayers' expense.

A suggestion has been made, he said, that the military departments engaged in missile research should stage a "duel."

"As ridiculous as the proposed duel may seem to some it is good that the proposal has been made, in fact, the proposal is a sound one in the light of the status quo of armed services' activities," he said, adding:

"It is a sound proposal because it gives emphasis to the conclusion of many of us that Congress and the President have a clear and present duty to call a halt to Army vs. Navy, Navy vs. Air Force, Air Force vs. Army."

Returning Silver

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain has begun returning 88 million ounces of silver it borrowed from the United States under World War II lend lease, the Commerce Department said.

It said the silver valued now at $81,200,000 is scheduled to be returned by April, 1957.

Most of the metal, the department said, was used during the war by British industry for photographic film and in the soldering and wiring of special equipment.

Miller Suggests Military Missiles Under One Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) suggests that development of the nation's military missiles should be handled by one research department under the Secretary of Defense.

In a recent statement in the Congressional Record, Miller noted that the Army's missile is known as the Nike and the Navy's is called Talos, both developed through research at taxpayers' expense.

A suggestion has been made, he said, that the military departments engaged in missiles research should stage a "duel."

"As ridiculous as the proposed duel may seem to some, it is good that the proposal has been made; in fact, the proposal is a sound one in the light of the status quo of armed services' activities . . .," he said, adding:

"It is a sound proposal because it gives emphasis to the conclusion of many of us that Congress and the President have a clear and present duty to call a halt to Army vs. Navy, Navy vs. Air Force, Air Force vs. Army."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain has begun returning 88 million ounces of silver it borrowed from the United States under World War II lend-lease, the Commerce Department said.
It said the silver valued now at $31,200,000 is scheduled to be returned by April, 1957.
Most of the metal, the department said, was used during the war by British industry for photographic film and in the soldering and wiring of special equipment.

Waitress, Who Admits Slayings, Indicted On 6 Murder Charges

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A 49-year-old waitress who admitted killing her mother, three small daughters and two husbands with ant poison was indicted Friday on the last of six murder charges.

Plump, auburn-haired Mrs. Rhonda Belle Martin already was under indictment on three first-degree murder counts when the Montgomery County grand jury added three more.

She also is charged with trying to murder her fifth and present husband, who is the son of one of the other husbands Mrs. Martin has admitted poisoning. The surviving victim, Ronald C. Martin, 23, is paralyzed from effects of arsenic.

Faces Death Trial

The 170-pound waitress faces trial the week of June 4 with death in the electric chair as the maximum penalty. Only one other white woman has been put to death by electrocution in Alabama.

Mrs. Martin was indicted Friday for the slayings of Claude Martin, her fourth husband and father of Ronald Martin; George Garrett, her second husband; and Carolyn Garrett, 6-year-old daughter by Garrett. Martin died in 1951, Garrett in 1939 and Carolyn in 1940.

The defendant, who wears horn-rimmed glasses, was indicted in Mobile last month for the deaths of her mother, Mrs. Mary Frances Gibbons who died in 1944, and two other daughters, 3-year-old Emogene Garrett and 11-year-old Elynn Elizabeth Garrett. Emogene died in 1937, the other child six years later.

Four Indictments

Actually, four murder indictments were returned here but one was a duplication of the charge in Mobile in the death of Elynn Elizabeth. Circuit Solicitor William F. Thetford said the child was poisoned here and died in Mobile.

The jury at Mobile also indicted the woman for assault with intent to murder Ronald Martin, whose illness in a Biloxi, Miss., veterans hospital touched off the murder investigation after it was diagnosed as arsenic poisoning.

Subsequently, the bodies of all six slain victims were exhumed for autopsies and investigators said all showed evidence of poison. Thetford in Montgomery said Mrs. Martin in her signed statement admitting the killings was vague about a motive. But he said she collected varying amounts of insurance on each death ranging from a few hundred dollars to between $3,000 and $4,000 on Claude Martin.

The only white woman electrocuted in Alabama also was charged with poisoning a child, her 2-year-old niece. Mrs. Earle Dennison of nearby Wetumpka was put to death at Kilby prison Sept. 4, 1953.

Six Airmen Die In Canada Crash

WINNIPEG (AP)—Two twin-engine RCAF training planes collided in the air Friday night and plunged into a farmers' field six miles southwest of here. The Air Force said six airmen were killed.

Names of the victims, including both Canadians and NATO students, were withheld by the RCAF pending notification of next-of-kin.

An RCAF spokesman said the Expediter planes were returning to base at the air navigation field on Winnipeg's Stevenson Field when they collided at low altitude over suburban Charleswood.

State Episcopalians Plan To Survey New Parish Sites

The Episcopal Church Diocese of Nebraska plans a state-wide survey, beginning in January of 1957, to determine where church work should be started and where parish buildings might be most strategically placed in the area.

Half of the survey cost will be paid by the National Council and half by contributions from Church members in the state.

The survey, to be conducted by an agency of the national council of the church, was approved at a meeting of the State Diocesan Council early this month.

Holy Apostles' Church of Mitchell was accepted as a parish at the meeting, with the Rev. Lloyd Metheny as rector.

The Rev. William Cross and the Rev. James Stillwell were elected delegates to the Provincial Synod. Both are from Lincoln.

Also elected were the Rev. Stillwell, secretary; Tom Davies of Lincoln, church advocate; Sterling F. Mutz of Lincoln, chairman of the standing committee.

Revolt Threat

CAIRO (INS) — Abd El-Krim warned that unless France ended the present fighting in rebellious Algeria he may decide to lead "another Riff revolt."

The leader of the 1921 Riff rebellion made the threat at a news conference.

Probers Say Joe's Study Was Justified

WASHINGTON (INS) — The two top members of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee said Friday that testimony before their group "justified" the 1953-54 investigation of the Army Signal Corps by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss), and Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), said testimony by exiled Soviet scientist E. Andriyev proves that "Soviet espionage was at work" at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., during World War II.

Andriyev's testimony was that "thousands" of documents from the Signal Corps laboratories at that post, with classifications as high as "top secret" were relayed to him in Moscow in 1944 by Soviet secret police agents.

Led To Dispute

McCarthy's search for espionage at Ft. Monmouth led to his dispute with the administration which was climaxed in the Army-McCarthy hearings. The Wisconsin Republican conducted the inquiry as chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Eastland and Jenner said that since the secret police gave Andriyev the documents and refused to reveal how they obtained them, along with the fact that some were microfilmed, indicated "that the documents were obtained illegally."

The senators declared: "that, together with the testimony we received a few weeks ago about Julius Rosenberg who was employed at Ft. Monmouth at that time, indicates that Soviet espionage was at work there."

Housework is easier . . . . . . because of advertising

Housework isn't easy! Clothes must be washed, meals must be prepared and children can still make a two-minute shambles of a spic and span home. But think of the drudgery in Grandma's day: no refrigerators, washers or driers; no modern soaps and cleansers; and no miracle fabrics that never need ironing. Housework still isn't easy—but it's easier. And advertising helps make the difference.

Here, in this town, newspaper advertising brings you the news of new products, makes you want them and tells you where you can buy them. Local sales all over the country encourage manufacturers to make newer and better products to save you even more time and labor. It's a never-ending improvement, in which you always win! By helping to sell, newspaper advertising benefits you.

U.S. 'Task Force' Will Evaluate Russ Arms Cut

... And Then Recommend Our Next Move

WASHINGTON (U)—Russia's announced plans for a big reduction in military forces will be reviewed by President Eisenhower's special eight-man panel of nuclear, military and industrial leaders starting May 29, Harold E. Stassen announced.

Stassen told a news conference that the special group formed by Eisenhower last summer will assemble in Washington a week from Tuesday to begin an analysis of the "implications" of the Soviet announcement, along with the recent London disarmament talks which reached no conclusion.

The eight task force leaders presumably will recommend what moves if any this country should take in response to Moscow's announcement of last Monday that Soviet military forces will be reduced by 1,200,000 men.

Members of the group and the subjects assigned to them as disarmament consultants are: Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, nuclear; Gen. James H. Doolittle, air; Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, army; Adm. Oswald S. Colclough, navy; Benjamin Fairless, steel; Walker L. Cislis, power and industry; Dr. Harold Moulton, military budgets; and Dr. James B. Eck, communications.

They went over the proposals which Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, took with him to the London conference, where he conferred with Soviet and other leaders.

At his news conference Stassen evinced much less skepticism than other officials have expressed concerning the Russian announcement of military manpower cuts. He said it could be "a desirable dividend" for President Eisenhower's peace policy.

He disagreed with reporters who suggested he might be out of step with the White House and State Department, both of which had voiced essentially negative reactions.

U.S. 'Task Force' Will Evaluate Russ Arms Cut

... And Then Recommend Our Next Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's announced plans for a big reduction in military forces will be reviewed by President Eisenhower's special eight-man panel of nuclear, military and industrial leaders starting May 29, Harold E. Stassen announced.

Stassen told a news conference that the special group formed by Eisenhower last summer will assemble in Washington a week from Tuesday to begin an analysis of the "implications" of the Soviet announcement, along with the recent London disarmament talks which reached no conclusion.

The eight task force leaders presumably will recommend what moves if any this country should take in response to Moscow's announcement of last Monday that Soviet military forces will be reduced by 1,200,000 men.

Members of the group and the subjects assigned to them as disarmament consultants are:

Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, nuclear; Gen. James H. Doolittle, air; Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, army; Adm. Oswald S. Colclough, navy; Benjamin Fairless, steel; Walker L. Cislis, power and industry; Dr. Harold Moulton, military budgets; and Dr. James B. Fisk, communications.

They went over the proposals which Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, took with him to the London conference, where he conferred with Soviet and other leaders.

At his news conference Stassen evidenced much skepticism concerning the Russian announcement of military manpower cuts. He said it could be "a desirable dividend" for President Eisenhower's peace policy.

He disagreed with reporters who suggested he might be out of step with the White House and State Department, both of which had voiced essentially negative reactions.

Kimball, Neb., Tot Recovering After Being Run Down

KIMBALL, Neb., May 19.—Delores Mason, 34, was reported recovering in a Cheyenne, Wyo., hospital Friday after being hit by a car Thursday in a trailer camp.

Kimball County Sheriff George Brandt said the car was driven by Dale Thornton, Kimball, who had recently been released from jail after serving a 30-day sentence on a drunken driving charge.

The sheriff said Thornton drove into the trailer camp at a high rate of speed. The car, the sheriff said, brushed two children but did not hurt them, then hit a trailer tongue before striking Delores. The car finally stopped on a bank after bursting through a fence around an oil field.

The sheriff said his men brought Thornton, found sitting in the car, to the county jail and later a group of Kimball oil men gathered and threatened violence against Thornton, who was then taken to Scottsbluff on a warrant charging him with driving while his driver's license was under suspension.

They went over the proposals which Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, took with him to the London conference, where he conferred with Soviet and other leaders.

At his news conference Stassen evidenced much skepticism concerning the Russian announcement of military manpower cuts. He said it could be "a desirable dividend" for President Eisenhower's peace policy.

Sec. Wilson Says Present U.S. Strength To Stand Indefinitely

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson served out notice Friday night that the U.S. plans "for the indefinite future" to maintain armed forces at their present size despite Russia's projected 1,200,000-man cut in military strength.

Wilson spoke out at the kick-off dinner for a nationwide series of Armed Forces Day observances featuring parades, military exhibits, air shows and banquets over the weekend.

The Air Force, meanwhile, unveiled new details of the first intercontinental guided missile, the "Snark," a rocket-launched pilotless jet bomber 74 feet long that the service said is "designed to deliver a nuclear warhead over transoceanic distances."

Wilson with TV star Arthur Godfrey acting as his master of ceremonies at a formal Washington dinner, said "our long-range program for defense envisages the continual modernization and qualitative improvement of the armed forces."

The defense chief added: "There is no clear indication that the world situation has improved to the point where we can importantly modify our policy of strength for the long pull."

"Thus, we are planning to maintain a force of approximately 2,850,000 in the armed services for the indefinite future — approximately twice the numerical strength of our armed forces at the outbreak of the Korean War."

Wilson did not sound a note of caution earlier in the day when he released from 216 to 45 the number of four-engine B-47 bombers scheduled to zoom over Washington during the Armed Forces Day show Saturday afternoon.

The defense secretary, prompted by the White House and the State Department, was said to have determined that the large display of B-47s would be too "massive" and might be interpreted abroad as a warlike demonstration.

"Snark"

He permitted a public display of the intercontinental "Snark," a

Washington, and a similar exhibit of the 60-foot long Red-tone rocket, the Army's newest guided missile, at Selfridge Field outside Detroit.

At least 200 other armaments are holding armed forces observances over the weekend.

Wilson made no direct reference to Russia's announced military cut but emphasized in his speech that America's armed forces and military exercises are maintained to preserve peace and "in no sense for intimidation or aggression."

The slogan for the armed forces observances is "Power for Peace."

Reds Urge Cut

MOSCOW — Pravda called on the United States Friday to follow the Soviet Union's example and cut back its armed forces.

The Communist party newspaper ridiculed a statement attributed to Secretary of State Dulles that the Soviet government is reducing its armed forces "only to increase its military might."

"If a reduction of armed forces means increasing military might, then why do not the American government and its Allies want to increase their might by using the same method?" Pravda asked.

"Panic"

The newspaper said the Russian announcement that the armed forces are being trimmed by 1,200,000 men caused a panic on the New York Stock Exchange.

"Leading spokesmen of the U. S.

government," Pravda said, "have tried to dispel apprehensions of the owners of the war industry and their brokers."

It asserted that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, assured industrialists and bankers that the United States does not intend to reduce its armed forces but actually plans to increase military expenditures.

Campaigning Expenses Of $2,200 Listed

Pre-primary campaign expenses totaling more than $2,200 were reported to the Secretary of State's office Friday.

Harry Stevenson, campaign manager for district judges from the fourth judicial district up for re-nomination, filed a report totaling $1,800 on behalf of these nine judges: Patrick W. Lynch, J. Ross Newkirk, James M. Patton, Herbert Rhoades, W. A. Day, James T. English, James M. Fitzgerald, Carroll O. Stauffer and Arthur C. Thomsen.

Other reports: James M. Patton, 4th District Judge, $210; Wells C. Jones, 10th District Judge, $183.60; Ross Hill, State Treasurer, $10; Harry R. Ankeny, 3rd District Judge, $10; John Aufenkamp, 2nd District Judge, $10; and Clyde B. Ellis, 18th District Judge, $10.

The Democratic State Central Committee has reported receipts totaling $4,374 and expenditures amounting to $2,088 during the recent pre-primary period.

The central committee's report listed expenditures of $1,300 since Feb. 15 to three "county organizations," according to the committee's treasurer, Leo J. Beck of Lincoln.

Jerry Whalen of Hastings received $330, J. C. Higgins of South Sioux City, $310 and Carlton Laird of Scottsbluff, $30.

Beck listed receipts of $4,374 and expenditures of $2,088 since the last report in November, 1954. The committee's balance as of May 5, he reported, was $2,266. This total does not include proceeds from the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner held May 12.

The Jackson Day Dinner accounted for $2,960 of the receipts, the report showed.

Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck reported to the Secretary of State he spent $42.50, including the $10 filing fee, in his primary campaign for re-nomination.

Lincoln Host To Salvation Army Youth Meeting

Over 200 young people from Santa Dakota, Western Iowa and Nebraska were expected to attend the meeting Saturday and Sunday of the annual Salvation Army Young People's Council.

Col. William Harris, chief secretary of the territorial headquarters in Chicago, will be the guest speaker.

Other guests will include the divisional commander, Paul Irish of Omaha and members of the western division staff.

The group will convene at 10 a.m. Saturday and will hold a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday evening.

'Every Child Has Right To Physical Ed'

An authority on girl's secondary physical education told a University of Nebraska convocation audience Friday that every taxpayer's child has a right to what physical education departments have to offer.

The speaker was Miss Iris Boulton, head of the department of physical education for girls at New Trier Township High School, Winnetka, Ill.

"Does a gymnasium belong to the favored few of a basketball varsity because some of the public wish to attend the games?" she asked. "If competition between schools is good for our skilled boys, should not the same benefits be accorded to and a part of the education of all our boys?"

Prestige and respect for physical education programs, she said, are determined by the teacher. Respect, she said, is gleaned in direct proportion to the number of children served.

Complaint Brings Innocent Plea

A complaint filed in Municipal Court by a Lincoln airman brought an innocent plea from Roy W. Ferguson, 35, of 1926 N. after he was charged with failure to yield the right of way in an accident.

The accident occurred May 3rd. The charge was filed by Roger J. Cramm, 21, at the urging of Motorcycle Officer Art Walker, who investigated.

Trial was set for May 31st, but may be postponed following Walker's hospitalization. He was injured while on the way to investigate an accident last Wednesday.
